NAZIS MASS ON GREEK BORDER

Fireman Overcome Fighting 5-Hour Fire

BLAZE STRIKES ZITZER STORE, APARTMENTS

Fire Fighter Overcome While In Smoke-Filled Buliding; Three Flee Homes.

LOSS IN THOUSANDS

Fire of Undetermined Origin Starts In Basement; Crowd Attracted to Scene.

Mansfield firemen battled for more than five hours yesterday to check a stubborn blaze at the electrical appliance store of C. M. Zitzer, 23 East Fourth street, which caused damage running into the thousands of dollars, sent a fireman to the hospital and drove out three persons living in an upstairs apartment.

The fire broke out at 8:50 a. m. in the basement of the store from an undetermined cause. It quickly spread through the cellar, sending up huge clouds of smoke from paints, packing material and other articles stored in the basement. Hundreds of spectators were attracted to the scene.

The smoke, according to Fire Chief Charles Seeburger, handicapped firemen and sent Fireman Russell M. Whitcomb to General hospital for treatment. He had not been released yet today.

Because of large packing cases and stock piled in the cellar, firemen were prevented from reaching the blaze and were forced to flood the basement. Columns of smoke enveloped the building and covered the downtown area.

Miss Florence Lentz and Mr. and Mrs. John Wallis, who occupy the apartments above the store were forced to flee from their homes in nightclothing. Their rooms, however, were only slightly damaged by smoke and water.

The barber shop of John Enderlee at 28 East Fourth street was threatened by the flames for a time but firemen were able to confine them to the basement. Bothered by the thick smoke, the Burns Bird and Pet shop at 24 East fourth removed many of its pets from the shop until the smoke abated.

Cold, Snow Likely To Halt Spring's Warmer Weather

Mansfielders got another sample of spring yeather today, but the weatherman said it will be colder again tonight with possible snow flurries.

For the first time in several weeks, the temperature was normal today, showing an average of 40.7 degrees as compared to a 16-year average of 40.6 degrees for the same date. Highest yesterday was 56, warmest so far this year.

A low reading of 34, two above freezing, was recorded this morning, but by noon the mercury climbed to 42.

After a light shower last night, skies cleared for a time this morning and it appeared that the city was in for another day of sunshine. Before noon, however, skies were overcast again.

The forecast was for fair and colder tonight and Tuesday, except for possible snow flurries tonight in sections of the northern half of the state.

SLAYER HANGED

Youth Who Killed Mother With Ice Pick Asks Forgiveness.

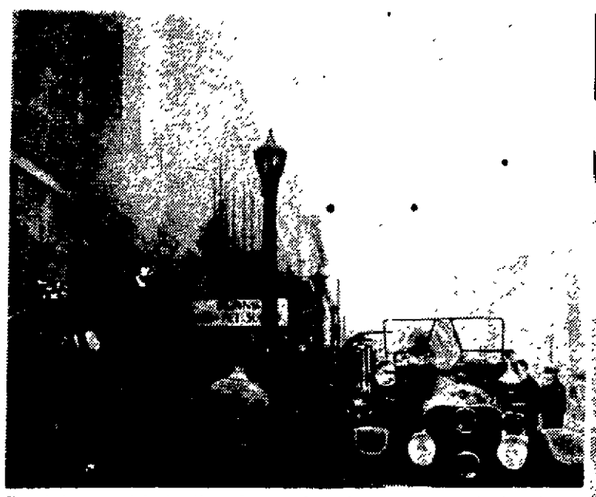

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—(AP)—Denzel Davis, 24, of Seattle, was hanged at the state penitentiary today for the ice-pick slaying of his mother, Mrs. Harriet Arnold, March 18, 1940.

Before going to the gallows he made a brief statement in which he "asked forgiveness of all, my wife and baby."

YACHT CLUB BURNS

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The club house of the Queen City Yacht club, 15 miles east of here, was destroyed by fire because, Capt. John Gettle reported, volunteer firemen lacked equipment to pump water from the Ohio river only 200 feet away. He estimated the loss at $14,000.

Spectators watch in the picture at top, left, while clouds of smoke pour from Zitzer's store on East Fourth street in yesterday's fire which tied up downtown traffic for hours. Top, right, Russell Whitcomb, fireman, rests at General hospital where he was removed after being overcome by smoke. In the bottom picture, refrigerators and other electrical equipment rest in the cellar where they crashed with the floor which weakened in the fire. The picture in the top, left, was snappen by Bronko George Petrovic of Fleming Falls road.

SENATE HEARS KNUDSEN BOAST

Takes Up Aid Fund Bill, After Statement Our Production Will Double Germany's.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate appropriations committee placed the $7,000,000,000 war-aid appropriations bill before the senate today and disclosed testimony by defense production Director William S. Knudsen that the United States will be able to produce war materials twice as fast as Germany.

Debate on the appropriation began today. Leaders expected passage without any major change before nightfall.

In bringing out the house-approved bill, the senate committee made public part of the testimony before the subcommittee which conducted two days of secret hearings on the measure.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was revealed to have told the subcommittee that no definite decision on the number of planes, tanks, ships or other weapons purchased with the $7,000,000,000 to be released to Britain, Greece and China will be made until the materials come off the production line.

Knox also disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt had created an interdepartmental committee of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., Secretary of War

STILL EXPLODES

Blast and Flames Destroy New Gasoline Refinery.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A new refining still owned by the Gulf Refining company was demolished today by a terrific explosion which shook virtually all of South Philadelphia.

A fire completed the destruction. Flames shot more than 200 feet into the air. A heavy smoke spread for half a mile around.

No deaths or injuries were reported.

The closest residential section was too far from the site to suffer serious damage, but windows in a few houses were shattered.

The still was completed only a few days ago. It was to be used to refine high test aviation gasoline from crude oil. The still consisted of four towers, each 150 feet high.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

7 INJURED IN AREA MISHAPS

Two Hurt When Auto Crashes Into Bus at Intersection; Nine Killed In Ohio.

Three traffic accidents Sunday and today in the Mansfield area resulted in injuries to seven persons, including three in a freak mishap early Sunday on route 30-S at Roxy's inn west of Mansfield. Automobile accidents claimed nine lives in the state as spring weather jammed the highways with motorists.

A man and woman, one a passenger on a Greyhound bus, suffered shock and minor bruises at 10:30 a. m. today when a car driven by Carl M. Marberg, Elmhurst, N. J., collided with a Canton-Mansfield bus at East Fourth street and Ashland road.

The bus driver and nine passengers escaped injury. Marberg also was uninjured. The injured bus passenger, Mae Gove, Farm Bureau employe at Shelby, was

U. S. To Take Title To Naval Bases In Atlantic This Week

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States, it was learned today, will acquire formal title tomorrow or Wednesday to the hemisphere base sites obtained last September from Great Britain.

The transaction will be completed in London where the 99-year leases will be signed by Prime Minister Churchill and John G. Winant, the American ambassador.

The United States received six of the base sites—Trinidad, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Lucia, British Guiana, and the Bahamas—in the historic "swap" which sent 50 World war type destroyers to the British fleet.

The base sites in Newfoundland and Bermuda were given the United States as "a free "gift."

While no official announcement of the lease terms has been made public, it was learned in informed quarters that:

The United States will acquire possession of specified and surveyed areas in all eight British territories which were selected by American experts as the most strategic defense sites.

The United States will obtain rights to these bases for 99 years, free of all rent.

A large part of the land selected for bases is "crown land" which will be turned over to the United States without compensation.

The British and colonial governments will acquire title to all privately owned land within the bounds of any of the base sites, and turn it over to the United States with clear titles.

The United States will, however, make a lump sum settlement with the British government, on the basis of real estate valuation surveys, so that private owners will be paid a fair price for any property taken over or damaged.

10 DIE IN RIOT

Two Shanghai Banks Bombed U. S. Marines on Patrol.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Ten persons were killed and at least 56 injured today in terrorist bombings of two Chungking-affiliated banks, and United States marines began a patrol of American property nearby.

An unexploded bomb two feet long and a foot in diameter was found in the Farmers' bank, another Chungking affiliated institution in the international settlement.

The bombings followed arrests of 130 Bank of China employes last week by the police ministry of the Japanese-supported Nanking regime in a move described as retaliation for assissinations of officials of the Nanking Central Reserve bank here.

ITURBI ILL

Noted Pianist Suffers Sinus Trouble, Nervous Breakdown.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jose Iturbi, pianist and conductor, is seriously, although not critically ill at his home suffering from a sinus disorder and nervous exhaustion. A family spokesman said the musician had a high fever and spent a restless night.

SEEK FIRE CAUSE

BELLAIRE—(AP)—Deputy state fire marshals searched ruins of the Electric Railway and Equipment company plant today for clues to the cause of a Sunday fire which left damage estimated by Supt. R. E. Botterel at $35,000. The concern manufactures steel utility poles.

TWO STRIKES SETTLED, NEW TROUBLE SEEN

Harvill and Aluminum Workers End Walk-Outs, Agree To Resume Defense Work.

CHICAGO PLANT GUARDED

AFL Prepares to Return Despite CIO Strike; Election Due at Bethlehem Today.

BULLETIN

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—(U.P.)—A threatened strike at the parent plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation was averted for at least 24 hours today when leaders of an alleged company union announced that balloting for election of officers had been delayed until tomorrow.

(By Associated Press)

The office of production management chalked up strike settlements in two plants with vital defense orders today after a weekend of intensive effort, but storm clouds hung over three other defense production fronts.

CIO representatives at the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting corporation at Los Angeles agreed to halt a ten-day-old strike last night after reaching agreement with the management on demands for union recognition and wage increases. The disputants agreed to continue negotiations on other issues and to submit them to arbitration if still deadlocked later.

This strike had caused great concern to the OPM because the company's production was essential to the operation of eight Pacific coast aircraft plants. The walkout had involved 350 of the plant's 425 employes.

Striking CIO workers at the Aluminum Company of America plant in Edgewater, N. J., also agreed to resume work today and continue negotiations over wage increase and overtime pay demands. The OPM had requested that this be done. The plant hires 3,000.

On the other side of the defense labor picture were these developments:

At Bethlehem, Pa., the CIO steel workers organizing committee stood ready to walk out of the Bethlehem Steel company plant if officials of the Employes' Representation plan tried to conduct a scheduled election today. The SWOC claims the E. R. P. is a "company union." A representative of the E. R. P. said the election would be conducted anyway.

WILLKIE HELPS

Arrives In Toronto to Open War Fund Drive.

TORONTO, Ont.—(U.P.)—Wendell L. Willkie arrives today to launch a $5,500,000 war fund drive and to receive the greatest tribute Canada ever accorded a private citizen of the United States.

Thousands of army, navy and air force officers, government officials and others were out to pay their respects to Willkie, who was invited to describe his recent experiences in Britain to a crowd of 20,000 at the Maple Leaf Gardens tonight.

He will be introduced by Canada's Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King and his speech will open the fund campaign for the national auxiliary war services of Canada.

Army Advances As Yugoslavia Bows to Axis

Heavy German Troop Movement Through Strategic Valley Reported; Strife Still Rampant in Prince Paul's Country; Greeks Give Warning.

BULLETIN

ISTANBUL, Turkey—(AP)—An unofficial but reliable source said today that Turkey and Soviet Russia would publish simultaneously at midnight tonight a "common declaration of friendship." The declaration, it was said, will mean Russian aid for Turkey "by every means short of war" if she is attacked by Germany.

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(INS)—The British minister in Belgrade has addressed an important note to the Yugoslav government, it was learned in Cairo today. Exact nature of the communication was not known.

(By Associated Press)

A heavy movement of German troops through the Struma river valley in Bulgaria toward the Greek frontier was reported in unconfirmed Balkan dispatches today as Yugoslavia's Prince Paul, overriding angry protests against submission to Germany, prepared to join the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

Military experts have said the Struma river valley would be the likely portal for Adolf Hitler's expected attack on Greece.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Belgrade said large formations of Nazi troops had been seen advancing rapidly southward through that valley since yesterday afternoon.

Official German quarters in Belgrade said Yugoslavia would have to sign up as a partner—just as Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Slovakia have done—rather than as merely a passive member.

Presumably, this would give Germany the right to march Nazi troops through the Balkan kingdom via the Vardar valley—Strategic gateway for an invasion of Greece.

Greece herself warned Yugoslavia against any "hostile act" in coopertion with Germany, and the British minister in Belgrade addressed a note to the Yugoslav government appearing to the regency not to "betray" Yugoslavia in the face of rising public opinion.

Smouldering unrest was reported in the Yugoslav army.

A government communique said the Yugoslav cabinet, shaken by a 4-day crisis, had been reformed. A special train carrying government leaders to Vienna to sign the Axis pact was scheduled to leave Belgrade at 4 p. m., eastern standard time.

New cabinet ministers, replacing the three anti-Nazis members who resigned, were said to have already assumed their duties.

Bitter feeling continued to sweep the kingdom, however, and pamphlets entitled "what will happen when the Germans come" flooded the country—depicting fat German soldiers, starving Yugoslavs, graveyards full of Serbs, and priests wearing swastikas.

"This is a real revolt of a great majority of Serbs against any

BRITISH WARSHIP HEADS FOR U. S.

Cruiser Expected to Undergo Repairs at Norfolk In '3 or 4 Weeks.'

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE—The Baltimore Sun said today that authoritative sources reported a British warship heading toward the Norfolk, Va., navy yards for repairs.

The paper said these sources did not disclose the name of the ship, but classed the vessel as a heavy cruiser drawing too much water to be handled at shipyards here.

One official at the Norfolk yards said, when informed of the report, that he had no confirmation of such arrangements.

The first report of a British warship near American waters came last night in a radio broadcast from Rome.

It said a "10,000-ton British destroyer" named the London had been towed into the American port of Chester "badly in need of repairs" as a result of a clash with a German submarine. No other details were given.

Toledo Union Secretary Charged With Embezzlement.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Donald M. Bennett, 45, financial secretary of the local carpenters union, today was bound over to the Lucas county grand jury by Police Judge Homer A. Ramey on the charge of embezzlement. He pleaded innocent.

Bennett is accused of embezzlind $1,073.25 from Local 1128, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

2 FOUND DEAD

Steel Worker and Girl Slain In Mingo Junction Home.

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)—The night-clothed bodies of George Madeira, 30-year-old steel worker, and Mary Vitas, 22, were found today in Madeira's room at nearby Mingo Junction. Both were shot in the head.

Coroner Ray Slee said he was investigating on the theory Madeira shot the girl, then killed himself.

John Tapocik, in whose home Madeira roomed, reported going to the steel 'worker's quarters' early this morning after hearing shots. He said he found both bodies on the floor and a .22 rifle across the girl's back.

The girl had visited Madeira at his room several times, Tapocik said, but he did not know she was spending the night there.

DEATH TOLL 2

Another Dies From Injuries In Wreck At Ohio Shell Plant.

WARREN, O.—(U.P.)—The death toll in the train wreck near the Ravenna shell-loading plant stood at two today.

James Sprouel of Youngstown died in a Warren hospital of injuries suffered when a fast freight collided with a passenger train that carried more than 700 workmen from the Youngstown area to the army plant last Tuesday.

J. C. Basch of Youngstown died Friday of his injuries.

Police Hunt Jewel Thieves Who Smashed Store Window

Mansfield police are investigating three jewel thefts totalling approximately $100 over the weekend.

A worker at a downtown restaurant reported to police yesterday that while going to work, he noticed a broken window in Brenner's Jewelry store at 8 West Third street. Investigation by police and O. O. Brenner revealed that about $70 worth of bracelets and a necklace had been taken from the store window.

Brenner told police that his burglar alarm had not functioned and that it had been out of order for three days.

Police also received reports from three Mansfield residents concerning robberies at two homes.

Mildred Snaveley and Marylyn Rockwell of 139 South Main street, reported that a wrist watch and a wedding ring had been taken from their bedrooms Miss Snaveley reported that they suspected a young man who visited the home Friday night.

Shortly after Miss Snaveley visited the home of Mrs. Stanton Weiler, 68 North Adams street, Mrs. Weiler reported two necklaces stolen. Police were furnished a description of the suspect.

'SKY ARSENAL'

British Hail New U. S. Bombers, Flown Across Atlantic.

LONDON—(INS)—British newspapers today prominently displayed news of the first American-made four-motored bomber to arrive in England after a flight across the Atlantic—huge Consolidated Liberator.

Heaping praise upon the plane, the newspapers dubbed it the "Sky Arsenal."

Youth Held Here To Face 18 Kidnaping Charges In West

A 19-year-old Mansfield reformatory inmate, allegedly a member of a notorious bandit gang which terrorized southern California motorists for several weeks last year, was released today to Los Angeles authorities, and will be returned there to face 18 charges of robbery and kidnaping.

The youth, Jack Shores, 19, was committed to the reformatory last Nov. 29 to serve one to 15 years for a Jackson county robbery.

He was released this morning by the Ohio Pardon and Parole commission to Deputy Sheriff J. A. Vigneau of Los Angeles, who was to start back to California with him today.

Vigneau said F. B. I. records linked Shores with the three-member California gang which kidnaped motorists in suburban districts of Los Angeles, locked them in the spare tire compartments of their cars and drove them to lonely areas where they robbed the victims and took their automobiles.

One member of the gang, Ross Gill, was apprehended in the west and is awaiting trial. Conviction on a kidnaping charge in California is punishable by death.

Vigneau said Shores is believed to have left his two companions last fall in Texas and then came to Ohio where he was apprehended at Jackson on the robbery count. Shores' home is at Red Oak, Okla., but he has spent most of his life in California.

CHAPTER VII

Karl Miller's voice came forcefully over the wire. "Joan? You are home safely?"

"Yes. I've been home for some time." She smiled, picturing Karl on the other end of the line. How sweet that he could be so concerned!

"I just wanted to be sure that you were all right. Good night, darling."

It was the first time that he had called her "darling." Her pulse leaped at the unfamiliar endearment.

"We will not work tomorrow," Karl informed her. "We shall have dinner together alone."

Joan went back to the bedroom with shining eyes to tell Sybil.

"Then you won't meet Paul?"

"Of course not! I wouldn't anyway."

Joan had not considered the possibility that Karl Miller might take her to dinner at the same place she was to have met Paul but as they walked into the lobby of the hotel Paul had mentioned, Joan saw Paul coming out of the bar. He nodded pleasantly as he passed them and Joan breathed a sigh of relief as she walked with Karl into the grill. It was not until their meal was almost finished that Joan saw Paul again. He was sitting alone at a corner table directly behind Karl. When they left, Joan, looking over her shoulder, saw that Paul was behind them. Was Paul Sherman deliberately following her? Was this his idea of a joke? But Joan did not tell Karl. He might have discharged Paul and much as he annoyed her she did not want him to lose his job on her account.

Karl drove swiftly along the Embarcadero. "Have you ever been on a freighter?" he asked the girl at his side. "Like to see one?"

"I'd love it," she answered.

"Sweet thing!" He reached for her hand.

They stopped at pier 27. Joan could see the hulk of a small ship looming out of the mist. Karl took her arm as they walked through a large storeroom, out into the foggy night, and up the swaying gangplank of the freighter, which even to Joan's inexperienced eyes was old and badly in need of paint.

On deck she followed Karl up a narrow staircase to the captain's quarters.

"He's a friend of mine," Karl explained, opening the door.

But though a lamp burned brightly in the cabin, there was no sign of the captain. Joan was intrigued by the round wooden table, the small desk, the faded curtains that inadequately draped the portholes.

"Isn't anyone on board?" she asked, drawing closer to Karl.

"There are a couple of sailors below. I saw them as we came up. We'll wait here a few minutes. Do you mind?"

"No. It's fun!"

Karl walked to the table poured some whisky out of an old-fashioned crystal decanter, and quickley downed it.

"This ship has been to South America, all through the West Indies, even to Japan."

'How I'd love to go to some of those places! I'm so tired of living such an ordinary life. Just eating and sleeping and working day after day."

She moved her hands with an impatient gesture. Her figure was straight and slender in its black wool dress, her face pale ivory with its eager mouth and flashing emerald eyes.

Karl Miller caught his breath as he looked at her.

"I'd like to take you to South America, darling! Maybe I can someday. Would you like to have me show you the world?"

"More than anything!" she cried recklessly. "Oh, Karl . . ."

He pressed her hand to his lips. "You're beautiful," he murmured. "You're beautiful and exciting, and I love you, liebchen! Do you know what liebchen means? It is sweetheart! It is what you are to me!"

His arms were around her. Liebchen! This foreign word held a curious fascination for her. It was like Karl. Strong, strange and sweet.

"You believe me, Joan? You believe me?"

The drone of the foghorns seemed a mournful undercurrent to her rapidly beating heart. 'Yes, Karl, I believe you."

His lips caressed her eyelids and the soft alabaster of her cheek. His tenderness drew her to him. But as Karl's arms closed about her Joan heard a faint sound outside the cabin door.

Startled, she cried, "What was that? Kirl, did you hear it?"

"Probably one of the sailors." But his hand reached to the inside pocket of his coat and he walked swiftly to the door and flung it open.

There was no one. The stairway leading down to the deck was empty. For a long moment Karl looked out into the dark night.

"You must have imagined it! No one is there."

"I heard something. I know I did. Oh Karl, let's get out of here. You can see your friend some other time, can't you?"

His voice was controlled. "Just as you wish."

But as she preceded him down the steps Joan saw a figure disappear into the shadows of the deck and even in the fog she could see that it was Paul Sherman!

CLAIMS AUTO HAS PASSED PEAK OF EFFICIENCY IN CITY TRAVEL

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— The automobile, as a method of transportation within a city, already has passed its efficiency peak, in the opinion of A. J. Lundberg, transporation executive.

"Given the existing conditions in our cities, the automobile as means of mass transit has already passed its optimum peak," Lundberg said.

"To carry the same number of people over a given route in the same time as trains, street cars, or busses are able to, the automobile requires far more space than is available, and an unreasonable costliness to build the necessary motorways, provided the land could be bought and other problems dealt with.

Would Disrupt City Life.

"Further, beyond the engineering aspect of constructing the super-highways, such a proposed system of mass transit brings in its wake a chain of events which wholly disrupt the system of city life, communication, and business to which we have grown accustomed and to which our outlook and business activity is geared.

"It would completely upset land values and would accelerate our chaotic growth just as we are beginning to comprehend and to grasp the factors that are causing this confusion.

"There is still another and greater complication: the problem of parking. For each person transported, the space required to store automobiles in the most modern types of garages approximately equals the space occupied by the same number of workers in central area business buildings."

Indians In Army; Fathers Fought Against Custer

FORT LEWIS, Wash —(U.P.)— Sioux braves whose fathers and grandfathers participated in the Custer massacre at the Little Big Horn in 1876 are in the army now.

They are attached to Company B, 163rd National Guard infantry from Fort Peck, Mont.

All but about 10 of the company's 88 men are Sioux. Three of its four officers are Indians. Commander of the company is Capt. James Helmer, an Indian who rose from the ranks.

None of the braves has much to say about the Custer affair. One or two said the elders of the tribe never discussed the massacre.

Professor, 60, Runs Hurdles For Exercise

BELOIT, Wis.—(U.P.)—Running hurdles is considered a young man's sport by virtually everyone but Dr. Lucius Chapin Porter, 60-year-old professor of comparative religion at Beloit college.

Dr. Porter, grandson of Beloit's first president, is on leave from Yenching university, Peking, China, where he has taught and coached track for many years.

At Yenching he ran a series of exhibition races, clipping off the 100 meter high hurdles in 21.5 seconds and the 220 yard low hurdles in 36.2 seconds.

Porter was a track star at Beloit before his graduation in 1901. He still runs for exercise three or four mornings a week.

Sigma Kappa Gamma Installs New Officers

In the above picture are shown the young women who were installed as officers of Sigma Kappa Gamma last week at a party held at the Southern hotel. Seated in the foreground is Miss Helen Lanzen, treasurer. Pictured from left to right are the Misses Dorothy Leech, corresponding secretary; Doris Kiraly, vice president; Dorothy Kelly, president; Kathryn Landfair, sergeant at arms, and Jeanne Scott, secretary.

Music Teachers Present Group At Porterfield's

A group of five members of the Certified Music Teachers association met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Marie Marks Porterfield, West Fourth street, to present a group of their students in recital before parents and friends. The teachers were Mrs. Porterfield, Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, Mrs. George B. Hall, Mrs. H. H. Clingan and Mrs. Elsie Ireland. A similar recital will be given in April.

Duo piano numbers were played by Mary Norton and Virginia Shambaugh, Barbara McKinley and Peter Black, and Fred Morey and David Weimer. Solo selections were played by these six in addition to David Ganyard, Ann Sir Louis, Joan Porter, and Olive Jean Hughes.

Vocal numbers were sung by Ada Mae Harbaugh, Mary Palmer and Frances Carter. Mary Norton gave the program notes during the recital.

ENTERTAIN.

Members of the Pinochle Pal club were the guests last night of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Blocker, Longview avenue. Cards were in play at two tables, and prizes were won by Mrs. Adam Schmidt and Joseph Shibinski. Refreshments were served at one long table. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt, Bowman street, will entertain for the next meeting. the date of which will be announced later.

Wedded This Month

Another March bride is the former Miss Marjorie Ilo Brooks who became the bride of William Dale Muth March 15 at the home of her parents on Helen avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Muth are now at home at 109 Massa avenue.

Informally Speaking...

March 24, 1941.

Lucy, dear:

IT LOOKS as though spring really is here at long last, and we're all hoping it will stay. . . . But perhaps we'd better keep our fingers crossed when we say that, because there's an old adage which maintains that as long as patches of unmelted snow can be seen, it will snow again—and I saw some of those patches this morning!

Most of the news I have for you today seems to be about collegians and their many activities. . . . Bette Greene has been selected to represent Otterbein college in this community. . . . She was appointed by J. Ruskin Howe, president of the Westerville college. . . . A junior at the school, Bette will be in Mansfield during spring vacation from March 29 to April 7, when she will have conferences with prospective students.

Saturday was an important day for Elaine Schiller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Schiller, at Seton Hill college, and the week preceding it was a busy one. . . . Elaine is a member of the college glee club, and that group took part in the Choral Festival of the liberal arts colleges of western Pennsylvania at Geneva college Saturday. . . . The program was arranged so that each glee club had eight minutes for songs of its own selection, and then all the clubs formed a chorus of about 500 voices for the singing of three prescribed numbers. . . . The Seton Hill club, under the direction of Madame Emmy Ohl, sang "Rachem" by Mana-Zucca and "Lamplighter" by Cookson. . . . The massed chorus was conducted by Dr. Karl V. Gilbert of Geneva in the singing of "Triumph, Thanksgiving" by Rachmaninoff," "Magnificat" by Hawe and "Praise to the Lord" by Christiansen.

Lucille Garber was celebrating something else last week besides her spring vacation from classwork at Stephens college. . . . It was her election as vice-president of administrative council, the main purpose of which is to aid each student in adjusting herself to the means of cooperative living and the worthy citizenship ideals set forth on Stephens campus. . . . Lucille, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Garber of Ashland, was elected following ten days of "all out" campaigning last week. . . . Active in student affairs, she is a member of Tri Phi social sorority, president of the Folk-Music group, a member of the glee club and a pledge to Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honor society.

AMONG the winners in the tenth annual exhibition of student work at the Ringling School of Art (which opened in the school galleries at Sarasota, Fla., a week ago and will remain up through next Sunday) was Roland F. Miller. A second year student at the school, Roland received honorable mention in portrait work, and since every department of the school and every student was represented in the exhibition, work receiving awards necessarily had to be outstanding. . . . Roland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Miller. . . . Judges for the exhibition were Richard E. Miller, well-known painter, and Jay Hyde Barnum, one of the country's leading illustrators.

This past week-end was an exciting one for Marguritte Boyer, as she went down to St. Louis, Mo., to attend a dance with Robert Rhoads at Washington university . . . Benny Goodman and his orchestra furnished the music for the Junior Prom Friday night, and on Saturday, Marguritte was entertained for luncheon at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon froternity house. . . . Robert, you know, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rhoads. . . And speaking of dances, Capt. and Mrs Robert Springer recently attended the 37th Division dance at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Two Friends Have Party In Honor Of Mrs. Hallum

The Misses Jean Shivley and Alfaretta Bowden entertained with a post-nuptial party for Mrs. William Hallum Saturday evening at the Shivley home on West Fourth street. The honoree was Miss Mary Ruth Carter before her marriage.

There were 12 guests present for the affair, and they played games during the evening. Prizes were awarded to the Misses Barbara Shivley and Marjorie Hoffman.

At the close of the games, Mrs. Hallum received a large Easter basket filled with eggs, which contained notes directing her to the hiding places of the miscellaneous shower gifts from the guests. The hostesses presented her with an electrical gift in honor of the occasion.

The hostesses later served luncheon at small tables, which were centered with bouquets of pink sweet peas and decorated with pink place favors. Mrs. Earl Mueller, sister of the honoree, was a guest at the party from Cleveland.

Suits For Deb, Career Girl Spring Favorite

Left, jacket dress; center, navy blue flannel nautical suit; right, dressy suit.

By SUSAN BARDEN

SUITS and jacket dresses are just about the first thing you think of when setting out to do some early spring shopping.

This season there are a wide variety of colors and styles in these outfits. Career girls will love the new models as well as the active woman-about-town, because they are perfect for office and shopping tours, and will be equally appropriate for gay luncheons, matinees and early tea and cocktail engagements.

The three types shown above are very different in styling, and go from the strictly tailored suit to jacket frocks that somehow are definitely feminine and yet retain a casual air.

Youthful and Colorful

The rather dressy suit was designed by Charles Cooper. It is both youthful and colorful. It is made of deep Parma violet purple wool, and a lighter shade of taffeta is used for the bodice of the dress and the lining of the bolero jacket. Both the skirt and the jacket are of light wool. The frock underneath can be worn without the jacket to make a change of costume.

Ida Lupino is modeling a very smart dress which features the latest fashion trend — the fitted peplum jacket. The little coat has a long collar that turns back to form tabs The full skirt of blue wool is the same color as the jacket.

A nautical mode was selected by Joan Leslie for her first suit of the season. It is made of navy blue flannel. The double-breasted jacket is finished with gold starred buttons and gold bullion thread on the sleeve. A navy blue felt beret is set at the back of the pompadour.

These are the perfect type costumes to wear right now under furs, and to flaunt out in the open on the first warm day.

Chi Sigma Entertains With Formal Dance

There were about 75 couples present Saturday evening for the annual St. Patrick's dance of Chi Sigma sorority. There was dancing from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. to the music of Bobby Masters orchestra. The ball room was decorated with the light crest of the sorority, green balloons attached to the chandeliers, and shamrock shields on the sidelights.

Arrangements were in charge of Miss Betty Hammel, assisted by Miss Mary Lou Hout, Miss Margaret McFadden, Miss Mary Butler, Miss Jane Cunningham, Miss Grace Ladd, Miss Wilma Zigler, Mrs. Wilbur Upson, Mrs. James Courtney, and Miss Mary Strater.

—Advice—

Nazi Court Lenient to Unfaithful

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

If Germany had a single shock left for the world outside her borders, the natoins that once knew her as an upholder of traditions of family-life, would be astounded at her most recent decision regarding marital infidelities.

Erring wives in Germany may now get get off scot-free, provided the "insulted" husband forgives her and upholds the bonds of matrimony in the face of such domestic blitzkriegs as extra-marital relations, thus "defending the interests of the community."

This is the gist of a decision handed down by the supreme court of the German reich, reversing a previous decision by a special court which had upheld the right of the wronged husband to divorce.

An amazing decision this, to those who remember the old Germany as a land that held marital relations as "sacred." But it co-ordinates with present-day Nazi philosophy that it's best for the stork to be up and doing to provide cannon fodder for the army, discounting whether or not the bird is engaged legitimately in such enterprises.

Another jolt was given to us oldsters who remember Germany pleasantly as a land of happy family life, music, worship of the army tradition and mild boasting of racial superiority, which always amused us. This is the fact that the outraged husband was away from home, fighting for Nazi principles, while his faithless wife succumbed to her lover. This last fact should make the case especially heineous, since all crimes committed under "war conditions" are subject to the gravest penalties. The supreme court held that since the injured husband had chosen to forgive his mate, instead of suing for divorce, no case of adultery could be made out.

Concerning this decision there comes to mind a paraphrased quotation: Let infidelity thrive, the King needs soldiers. According to the supreme court, the interest of the community of the people in the preservation of the marriage outweighed even its interest in the punishment of the culprit.

In considering this remarkable decision. it is well to remember that 72 per cent of the entire national income of Germany goes for war costs. No wonder the latest photographs of Herr Hitler have a turned-down look around the corners of the mouth which the little upturned Charlie Chaplin moustache fails to counteract.

THEATERS

Lusty Drama.

Adventures of the Lester family continue at the Ohio where "Tobacco Road" with Charlie Grapewin as "Jeeter" is playing. The production which has amazed audiences for eight years since it first saw light on the stage retains all the lustiness and pungency of the original in the current screen production. Marjorie Rambeau is "Sister Bessie," and the cast includes Gene Tierney, William Tracy, and Ward Bond.

Private Fight.

Lee Bowman and Alan Curtis stage a Sergeant Quirk-Captain Flagg fight in "Buck Privates," the comedy of camp life playing at the Madison. Lively moments among Uncle Sam's selectees are furnished by Budd Abbott, Lou Costello and Nat Pendleton as well as the Andrews Sisters who offer some of their best boogie-woogie rhythm numbers. "Dark Streets of Cairo" is the second feature starring Rod LaRocque and Katherine DeMille.

Lane Sisters.

While the charm of the three earlier Lemp family films, starring the Lane Sisters, have been retained in "Four Mothers," showing at the Ritz, the story is completely new. All the girls are happily married and just to keep the records straight the couples are Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn, Lola Lane and Frank McHugh, Gale Page and Dick Foran and Rosemary Lane and Eddie Albert. Claude Rains and May Robson are among the featured players. "Comrade X" with Clark Gable and Heddy LaMarr is the second picture.

Hillbilly Opus.

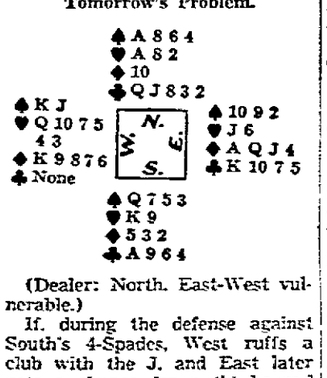

Radio lanes were raided for the cream in hillbilly talent when "Barnyard Follies," showing at the Park, was filmed. A rhythmic rural opus the picture presents The Cackle Sisters from the National Barn Dance program, Mrs. Uppington of the Fibber Magee and Mollie show and a variety of others including Rufe Davis of the screen. Baby Sandy romps through the co-attraction "Sandy Gets Her Man" with Una Merkel and Stuart Erwin.

Streamlined Comedy.

What happens when a presumably long-dead wife suddenly reappears to confront her newly married husband gives rise to a melange of hilarious complications in "My Favorite Wife," opening at the Majestic Tuesday. Irene Dunne is the wife who comes back on the night of her husband's honeymoon. Gail Patrick is Wife No. 2 and Cary Grant is the husband. "Courageous Dr. Christian," another in the Jean Hersholt series completes the feature bill.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I think that is the indicated procedure," I told my husband. "Have you thought out your excuses to our hosts so we can get away?"

"Only in a general way," Dicky answered. "It will be ever so much more impressive, if we don't know exactly and put on an impromptu performance. You don't need to do anything save follow my cue, and invent some reason of your own for going along with me."

"I hope I can do it artistically," I said with distinct pessimism in my manner.

"That's your middle name," Dicky told me encouragingly. "But hist!"—he stuck a melodramatic attitude—"Methinks I hear feet-steps!"

He was right, and he was almost caught in his absurd exaggerated posture when Helena, clinging fondly to Ronald's arm came into the room, with Sam—who evidently had been clutching the other arm, falling a step behind them as they came through the door.

Helena and Sam were both beaming, and Ronald was doing his best to play up to them. I noted with approval that his bath, his shave and his change of clothing had changed his appearance marvellously for the better, and though he was still thin and emaciated, he was not haggard, and his eyes were not tortured as they had been when I first looked into them.

"Here's our boy!" Helena said proudly, and Dicky, already on his feet, went swiftly over, with hand outstretched, to meet the boy.

"Hello! Uncle Dicky," Ronald said easily. "Sorry I wasn't downstairs to greet you. I've already seen Aunt Madge."

"And now," Helen said hospitably, "is there anything you don't want for dinner? You know what I mean," she went on hurriedly, "so many people are on diets nowadays, that you have to watch your step when you're entertaining your friends, or they won't be able to eat a single thing you set before them."

Dicky laughed uproariously at her doleful manner.

"No diets in the Graham family so far, thank Heaven!" he said. "Our local physician says we're both disgustingly healthy. So just bring in one of your usual dinners, Helena—I'm still smacking my lips at the thought of the last one."

"You absurd boy!" Helena said smiling gratifiedly. "I do hope you'll like this one. I'll just speak to the cook a minute."

She vanished, to return almost within the minute she had promised, and when she came back, I had evolved my excuse for getting upstairs and making an attempt to see Carolyn.

"Would you people mind if I went upstairs to my room for a few minutes? I feel as if I had a headache coming on, and if I take a tablet and lie down for a few minutes, I shall be perfectly all right."

"Why! of course, darling!" Helena said warmly. "I'll go up with you and make you comfortable."

"Oh! please!" I began dismayed, because I should have expected just such a move from her hospitable soul. But Dicky struck in effectively.

"Helen!" he said solemnly with uplifted hand. "Be guided by me. I've had long years of experience with that dame, and when she feels a headache coming on, she wants to go into the silence absolutely alone. She will not permit even her ever-loving husband to hand her a glass of water. Let her go!"

"It seems so heathenish," Helena mourned. Then she yielded.

"You'll find everything you need in your room and bathroom, I'm sure," she said, and as I went through the door, I caught a wink from Dicky that told me he would keep the three occupied until I should have had a chance to contact Carolyn.

I went directly to my room as soon as I reached the top of the stairs and changed my gown to a negligee, and my shoes to soundless bedroom slippers. Then, feeling that I was "in character" should Helena come up, and also that no sound of footsteps would betray me, I went softly down the hall and tapped lightly on the door of Carolyn's room.

"Carolyn!" I said in muted tones, with my face close to the crack of the door. "It's Aunt Madge. I must see you for a minute—no longer!"

"The Authority on Authorities"

LEARN THIS COMBINATION

Almost all fair-to-middling players make the same mistake with one combination of the cards. That is when holding the singly or doubly guarded queen at the left of a declarer, who has an otherwise entryless dummy containing a five or six-card suit headed by the A-J-10. If the declarer leads a small card toward that suit, the average player will nearly always follow the unsound rule of "second-hand low," whereas he should put up his queen.

Let us take the combinations which are important when the suit is of five cards. They are as follows:

West	South	East
1. Q X	X X X	K X X
2. Q X	X X	K X X X
3. Q X	K X	X X X X
4. Q X X	X X X	K X
5. Q X X	X X	K X X
6. Q X X	K X	K X X

We can elminate the situation in which South has the doubly-guarded K, as in that case he would lay down the K first. We can also forget the one in which he has a singleton, since he then will come up with the A on the first round anyway, and also that in which he has as many as four cards, for then we can't block the suit anyway. The only combinations to consider then are those six given above.

With Nos. 1 and 4, playing the Q may result in your side taking two tricks in the suit instead of one, as the declarer almost surely will duck in dummy and finesse on the second round, since probabilities are that you split honors from K-Q-X. With Nos. 2 and 5, your play of the Q makes it absolutely impossible for declarer to bring in the suit, whereas ducking will enable him to do it if your partner wins the first round finesse, which he may feel he has to do, since two tricks in the suit may be all that the declarer needs for contract.

With Nos. 3 and 6, the declarer may be striving to get two entries to dummy, so that he may lead toward his own hand twice for finesses. If you duck, he gets into the dummy once, and on the next round of the suit, overtakes the K for a second entry to it. But play of the Q on the first round breaks up this play, limiting him to just one dummy entry, without costing your side a thing.

The same principles apply, with very slight variations, in exactly the same way, if the dummy's suit is of six cards, and frequently when it is of only four cards.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, March 25

PARTICULARLY pleasant and propitious astral conditions obtain in all departments of human living on this day, with much of a stabilizing and enduring nature in relation to business, possessions and all sorts of real property. Industry, application and steadfastness to the duties and obligations should bring rich returns, both of a material character and in all phases of private life.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of progressive, pleasant and prosperous conditions all along the line of human endeavor and aspiration with a stabilization of the fortunes, increase of possessions, rewards for merit and fidelity, especially as tokens of appreciation from elders and superiors.

A child born on this day should be steady, persistent and faithful, with many sterling abilities as well as artistic and intellectual talents and graces.

Dirty washlines and clothespins leave smudges on freshly washed clothes, so both should have periodic washings. Put them in the mechanical washer and let it run for a few minutes, or scrub on a washboard with a firm brush after a preliminary soaking.

HOW TO GET A LOAN TO PAY YOUR DOCTOR BILL

You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $4.46 a month for 30 months—Loans made without endorsers or guarantors—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $500—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.46 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 4c a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $4.46 a month for 30 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 76c.

Borrow for less

Installments in the table include all charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Every customer gets the benefit of this rate—whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to get a loan

All you do to apply for your loan is to acquaint us with your problem. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. At no time do we ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should get sick or lose your job while paying on your loan, we will show you every consideration.

You are invited to phone or visit us for further information at any time. No obligation to borrow!

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

I was just about to write a line saying there was nothing at all to write a line about, because truly there wasn't, and wondered how long I could string along on a line like that.

And then came the thought: Why, this is the week that Paul Carbetta goes to Boston. Happy thought! Happy day!

Paul, you're saving my life. If you do as well for yourself in Boston as you're doing for me this day in Mansfield, you'll be champion.

Mansfield's game little flyweight fisticuffer, who battled through five rounds of the semi-finals and finals of the mid-west Golden Gloves with an injured thumb, has the digit in punching order again, and will leave Saturday afternoon for the national amateur championships.

It may be that he'll go to Cleveland a day or two earlier to make sure his weight is down to the 112-pound limit. At Boston he'll not be able to sweat off two or three pounds as he did at Chicago. He's got to hit the scales right on the nose.

At Boston's Garden there'll be no home-town judging for a defending champion and Paul will at least have a chance to win on the actual fight result. Mansfield fans have joined Cleveland Plain Dealer experts in considering Carbetta uncrowned king of the Chicago tourney flyweights.

The Mansfield fight scene will remain quiet until after Lent according to Russ Gimbel, Friendly House maestro. An amateur card is being planned for Thursday, April 17, and in the meantime local scrappers will keep their hand in by participating in the Marion Golden Gloves this week and next on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Here's one for the bowling book. In that now famous Orange St.-Royal Crown women's match at Meder alleys yesterday afternoon, Peg Yingling slid a soft ball cross-alley, missing the one and two pins, and barely catching the four.

And the maples toppled for a strike. It's something, so I'm told, you seldom see.

"How," asked Sonny Meder, "did they fall? Forward or backward?"

And Peg, still wearing that dazed, far-away look, retorted:

"They just fell down."

Which was correct. The pins just plain collapsed. From shock, no doubt.

Cafes Edge Royal Crown Quintet

Donna Schuster smacked the maples for 169-200-193—562 to pace Orange St Cafe to an 88-pin win over Royal Crown Colas in the special match of women keglers at Meder alleys yesterday. But the Cafes needed their 120-pin handicap to win.

Without the handicap Royal Crown led by 32 pins, with Margaret Baker showing the way on 154-218-150—522.

HURLERS LOOK GOOD

LAKE WALES Fla—(AP)—All winter the New York Yankees brain trusters said the only problem in the way of a pennant was pitching. This problem is looking less difficult now. Until the St. Louis Cards scored two runs in the seventh yesterday the Yankee hurlers had worked 16 scoreless innings and Red Ruffing, one of the club's question marks, worked three of the shutout frames in his debut against the Redbirds.

LIKE CAMP SITE

ST PETERSBURG Fla—(AP)—With camp-breaking set for next Thursday the St. Louis Cardinals are "singing about their return here next spring. "I wouldn't trade training camp sites with any major league club anywhere," asserted President Sam Breadon.

A's Lead Grapefruit League

Dodgers Seek Herman To Bolster Infield.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

There's a fairly common belief that baseball's annual spring training shennanigans are just a sham to ballyhoo the new season.

It certainly is true that the training camps train the spotlight of public attention on the sport well in advance of the schedule opening.

What would happen if all the clubs started from scratch in the National and American leagues next month instead of getting steam up in the grapefruit circuit is ludicrous to imagine.

For instance the Philadelphia Athletics, cellar club of the American league, might scoot out front like they have in the exhibition hilarities and the pennant-winning Detroit Tigers might start in the cellar, where they are now.

The A's have won 13 out of 16 games against all the baseball talent concentrated in southern California and thus have a narrow advantage over the New York Yankees, who have won 12 out of 15 in Florida.

Already the grapefruit games have been worth their weight in gate receipts to the clubs.

They have shown that the Brooklyn Dodgers aren't so strong as they thought they were and sent President Larry MacPhail scurrying westward this very day, from Florida to California, to attempt to swing a deal with the Chicago Cubs for Second Baseman Billy Herman.

The Washington Senators were saved from establishing George Archie as their regular first baseman; the myth of Dick West as a possible first string catcher for Cincinnati's world champions was exploded; the New York Giants were given an opportunity to experiment with Hank Danning in the outfield and to find out the true condition of Billy Jurges.

All of these things will have a bearing on the pennant races and if baseball spends a million dollars on its grapefruit league—it's worth it.

George Washington U. Girls Hit Target

Anyone thinking of invading the United States should look at this picture and think again! Losing only seven out of 44 matches in four years of intercollegiate competition, these members of the George Washington university women's rifle team have compiled one of the five best records of any similar team in the country. Shown in the photo are, left to right, Barbara Simons, Judy Osmer, Peggy Kinsman, Mrs. Helen Hanford, coach; Mabel McEwan, captain; Elizabeth Toupasz, Helen Duckson and Eleanor Sholtes, manager. The university is located in the nation's capital.

BIG JOHNNY GEE HITS MINOR TRAIL

ONTARIO, Calif. —(UP)— Big Johnny Gee, towering lefthanded hurler for whom the Pittsburgh Pirates paid $75,000 in 1939, was on his way back to the minor leagues today. Manager Frankie Frisch and Pirate President William Benswanger optioned Gee to Portland, following his poor week-end exhibition against the Philadelphia Athletics. However, a 48-hour recall clause was attached to the option on Gee, who spent last year on the "farm" with a sore arm, following his purchase from Syracuse. The Athletics defeated the Pirates yesterday, 4-1.

Bobcats Meet Long Island

Opposite Styles Tested In Tournament Finals.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Long Island University and Ohio University whose basketball styles are as far apart as the district they represent, clash tonight in the final game of the intercollegiate invitation basketball tournament at Madison Square Garden.

The prospect is that the crowd will rival the Garden record of 18,357, established Saturday when L.I.U. shattered Seton Hall's 43-game winning streak, 49-26, and Ohio U. turned back City College, 45-43.

Losers in the semi-finals meet in a consolation game before the final tonight.

Long Island's big team specializes in smooth passing, accurate shooting from beyond the foul line and most of all a tight man-to-man defense. In addition the Blackbirds have the undeniable advantage of size

The Ohioans rely mainly on the speed of their fast-breaking attack and that was good enough to overcome Duquesne, the pre-tournament favorite, and the cagey City College team

Off their showing so far, the Blackbirds likely will be favorites to win the tourney for the second time in four years.

Martins Ferry Turns Out To Welcome State Champs

COLUMBUS—(AP)—It was back to school today for the Buckeye realm's 1941 scholastic basketball champions as the shouting of pride-filled hometown folk finally died away in southeastern Ohio hills.

Martins Ferry residents turned out with fire trucks, a motor caravan and the 80-piece high school band to welcome home their team which defeated Lakewood to capture the state Class A title in the tourney at Columbus.

Not since the town's volunteer firemen won the world's championship for hose reel racing at the Atlanta, Ga., convention 52 years ago has such a celebration been seen in the Ohio river city, veterans averred.

Taking home the Class B honors from the week-end tournament which saw four records established was Glenford of Perry county, which smothered Canfield, last year's finalist, 48-28.

The play of Dick Shrider, Glenford's All-Ohio center, stood out. During his four games he garnered 79 points, 11 more than the 1934 scoring record of Waterloo's Orlyn Roberts. His 17 points in the championship game gave him a total of 807 for 32 contests this season.

Roger Phillips of Cridersville topped the single contest scoring mark in Class B by five points, getting 33, while in Class A, Dee Snelling of Newark scored 27, two more than the previous one-game high.

A total of 42,476 fans attended the three-day classic, 8,280 more than the 1938 attendance record.

All over the floor in the Class A final was 240-pound Lou Groza, six-foot two-inch Martins Ferry center. Groza brought his team from behind with four quick baskets in the final minutes of the contest after the score had been tied eight times and had changed hands 14 times in the first three quarters.

CLINCHES BERTH

ONTARIO, Calif.—(AP)—Alf Anderson, rookie shortstop from Atlanta, has clinched a berth with the Pittsburgh Pirates, says Manager Frank Frisch He held down Arky Vaughan's post in the week-end exhibition games and caused Frisch to remark, "He is the type of player who grows on you."

Marksmen Fire In NCO Meet

Mansfielders Win Share Of Ashland Honors.

Well over a hundred rifle and pistol shooters competed in the annual N. C. O. Rifle and Pistol matches held at the Ashland Armory over the week-end with Galion, Mansfield and the Cleveland districts dominating the rifle matches and Ralph Marshall of Lima taking seven of eight of the matches on the hand gun program.

Ralph Marshall, a real shooting sheriff of Lima, didn't have easy going and was given very close competition by W. J. Woods of Akron.

Close competition marked the rifle as well as the pistol matches, Lloyd Bender of Galion won the metallic sight three position match with a 284 and was paced by Cy Hassinger of Mansfield with a 283.

In the any-sight prone championship Hassinger won with a 200 score and 70 additional tens in the shoot off Cleo Pfleiderer of Galion was second with a 200 and 49 additional tens.

L A Arntz of Mansfield won the any-sight three-position match with 288 and had some close competition from N. E. Walters with a 287 and Mrs. Rinehart of Galion with a 286.

The handicap match went to Gutschmidt with a perfect 300. He was tied with Hugh Ferguson of Mansfield, but Ferguson was outranked because of his lower handicap.

Ralph Marshall of Lima was the highlight of the pistol section, taking seven out of eight matches.

Co-Eds Show Men How To Shoot

MARGUERITE HAGGARD, L. S. U., 97-OF-100 MARKSMAN

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Don't ever get the idea that the girls (bless 'em) can't drawn as sharp a bead as their boy friends. They'll snipe a target to pieces. "Given the same training, women are as good marksmen as men any time," says Major F. E. Danaway, army officer in charge of the Louisiana State university co-ed rifle team. For two years straight the co-eds have beaten the men's team and this spring, with the price of a picnic at stake, insist they'll fire from both prone and sitting positions. They want no quarter.

Loving Cup Won By Big Lombardi

'Best Loved Player In Majors,' Says Wilson.

By HENRY McLEMORE

TAMPA, Fla. —(U.P.)— It won't appear in the record book, but Jimmy Wilson gets an assist for this story.

Talking baseball with Jimmy in his apartment in the St. Catherine hotel on Catalina Island just a month ago, he suggested that when I go to Florida for a look at the spring training camps I do a story on Ernie Lombardi, the massive catcher of the world champion Cincinnati Reds.

"There have been hundreds of stories done on Big Lom," the new manager of the Cubs said, "but they all have dealt with him as a baseball player. You know, what a tremendous hitter he is, how smart he is back of that plate, and how well he handles pitchers. But I never had read a story telling how Lommie is the most loved man in all the major leagues."

Jimmy gave me part of the story right there.

"I have played on lots of ball clubs in my time," he told me, "but not until I went to the Reds was I ever on a team that had a player who had the respect and love of the other players the way the big Italian has. That goes from the rawest rookie to Manager Bill McKechnie. There never is an unkind word spoken about him, no matter what he does on the ball field. And although any player is bound to make mistakes now and then, there never is a word of criticism of Big Lom.

"Slow, easy-going, patient, understanding and kind, that's Lommie. Say, I'll bet he gives away $500 to rookies during the spring training. He is always slipping the kids three or four bucks for spending money, and always makes them swear they won't tell where it came from."

So, when I got down to Tampa and the Red's training camp, I made a check on Lombardi. Everything Wilson had told me was right as rain.

"There never was one just like Lommie," Bill said, and he is not a man given to extravagant praise. "I think Wilson used the right word when he said the players loved him. A great personality, and a great ball player. You know, you hear more about Lom's hitting than you do about his catching, but he is a smart, smart catcher. You can watch him all season and you won't see him make many mistakes. He knows a lot of baseball.

Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Eddie Joost, Frank McCormick, and all of the others confirmed Wilson's report on Lombardi's standing with the team.

Lombardi is the first man to reach the park during the season and the last to leave, McKechnie told me.

SPORTS GOSSIP

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Hottest fight manager in the biz today is Jimmy Johnston, Broadway's "boy bandit." . . . In four years, he has ballyhooed two of his meal tickets into three world title shots . . . and he has one—maybe two—more coming up . . . Abe Simon, who amazed nearly everyone with his stand against Joe Louis last week, is assured of a return go . . . and there is talk that Bob Pastor, who came out of the boxing boneyard to upset Turkey Thompson on the coast, may get his third fling at Louis . . . if not, he'll get a chance to avenge last June's knockout by Billy Conn, which might draw more than a Louis bout.

FEED BOX SPECIAL

Naming race hosses for cities and states is getting to be quite the thing . . . a hay burner named Kansas City has been doing all right in Florida . . . and one called Kansas was a two-time winner in select company at Santa Anita . . . Also, you'll recall Omaha and Johnstown were red hot . . . so, if a nag named San Francisco comes through in the Kentucky derby, don't say George Herrick of the San Diego Tribune-Star didn't warn you.

THE WEEK'S WASH

There is no established pitcher in either big league less than five feet, 11 inches tall . . . Henry Picard will play in only two golf tourneys this summer—the open and the P. G. A. . . . Milo Theodorescu, who passed up a chance to fiddle in Carnegie Hall to fight Jerome Comforto in New Orleans, was a terrible flop down there . . . any time Ray Keenan, William and Mary pitcher, wants to talk turkey, he can get a $2,000 bonus for signing with the Athletics . . . Lou Novikoff did a Casey and fanned with the bases loaded the other day . . . As Sam Balter, his biographer would say, "It happens once in a life time." . . . Sam has a swell piece on "the mad Russian" in Esquire.

Strikes Win Lead In Doubles

Champ Needs 'Em and Gets 'Em In A.B.C.

ST. PAUL, Minn. —(U.P.)— Two strikes were needed to take the lead in the doubles of the 41st annual American Bowling congress with a score of 1307 and Ned Day of Milwaukee, Wis., world's match game champion, stepped up to the line and delivered them.

Day, bowling business partner of movie actor Harold Lloyd, was teamed with Elmer Koch of Milwaukee. Six thousand spectators were in the stands and the score was against them unless Day could roll out with a double strike.

His first ball was right in the "pocket" for a perfect strike. The second ball bent widely down the alley and cut in just at the right moment. He had scored again and on the big board went up the new lead for the two-man event. Day's score was 656. Koch, Wisconsin state all-events champion, rolled 651.

Day rolled 652 in the singles, failing to place among the first five only because of a No. 10 pin that refused to fall. However, the score was advanced toward his all-events total of 1308 which he will complete April 2 when he returns with His Ned Day Recreation team to compete in the five-man event.

Russell Gersonde, Milwaukee Pabst team member, moved into fifth place in the singles with 694 on games of 224, 225 and 245. Arthur Boehmke, also of Milwaukee, took seventh place with 684.

Grant McKowan and Howard Kissner of Milwaukee took fifth place in the doubles with 1270. Kissner fouled in the eighth frame of his last game which prevented the team from taking second place.

James Sullivan and Bernard Clark of Chicago scored a new high for doubles games in the 1941 tournament with 483.

* * *

Mary's Restaurant team of Gary, Ind., took sixth place in the five-man event with 2877 when the squad appeared last night on the late schedule.

RAIL DEMAND GIVES BETTER MARKET TONE

Both Stocks and Bonds Go Higher In Transport Side of Street.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Demands for selected rails, steels, aircrafts and miscellaneous industrials imparted a somewhat better tone to the stock market today.

Tilting upward were Pennsylvania, Anaconda, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, United Aircraft, Du Pont and Consolidated Edison.

Rails resumed a climbing trend in bonds. Commodities were uneven.

Traders still seemed to be awaiting a blow-off in the Balkans and a clearer view of federal tax revision.

Business analysts looked forward to sustained activity in major industries. Spring increase in outdoor construction and completion of new defense plants were expected to supplement the capacity pace of numerous manufacturing and supply factories.

SUNDAY FIRE ROUTS FAMILY NEAR ASHLAND

Vermillion Township Farmer, Wife Escape as Blaze Destroys Home.

ASHLAND—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fraunfelter, Ashland R. F. D. 2, Vermillion township escaped injuries Sunday when their home burned to the ground.

Fraunfelter was awakened about 2 a. m. and found the living room of their bungalow in flames. Neighbors called the community fire truck at Ashland. The Hayesville company arrived first but were unable to save the building or contents.

It is believed the fire originated from a defective flue. Loss is partially covered by insurance.

About five minutes after the community truck was called, the city truck responded to an alarm at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Park Aber, 1100 Cottage street. Fire originating in a bath room was extinguished. The house was damaged by smoke.

ASHLAND — Seventeen young men left Ashland Saturday for Cleveland for induction into selective service training. They were Raymond Emory Kershner, Eugene Orman Riffle, Robert Guy Zehner, Guy Henry Kiplinger, Robert Linn Wirts, Russell Edwin Brown, Raymond Levi Arnholt, John Pastor, Dale Richard Taylor, Rex Downs McDowell, all of Ashland, and George Clinton Rickett of R. D. Ashland.

Those from the county were Edward Charles Kopp and Willard Riley Funk, Jeromesville; Roy Junior Richey, Loudonville; Robert Hahn Bennett, Shreve; Leon Lieber Johnson, Ruggles; and Robert Matthew Calhoun, Savannah.

CORRECT FACTOR

Specialist Claims Chicks Inherit Egg Traits.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— C. M. Ferguson, specialist in poultry husbandry, Ohio State university, asserts that chicks inherit the characteristics which determine the size of the eggs the bird will produce when mature.

"Chicks with the right inheritance factors will produce large eggs which bring top prices," he said, adding: "Small eggs are produced by hens which had the wrong parents and nothing can be done to change this undesirable quality."

Ferguson also reported that pullorum disease, transmissible to chicks from infected parents, kills more chicks during the first three weeks of their life than are killed by all other causes combined. He cautioned farmers to buy chicks only from hatcheries which have breeded flocks that have been blood tested and from which diseased birds have been removed.

SHELBY COUPLE WED 52 YEARS

SHELBY—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keiser, 83 Walnut street, celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary last week.

Married in Crawford county March 20, 1889. Mr. and Mrs. Keiser have made their home in Shelby for the past 17 years. Both are in good health. Mr. Keiser is employed at the Shelby Autocall company.

Mrs. Keiser was born in a log cabin in Seneca county near Bloomville. Both owe their happiness in married life, they say, to observing the rule of simplicity.

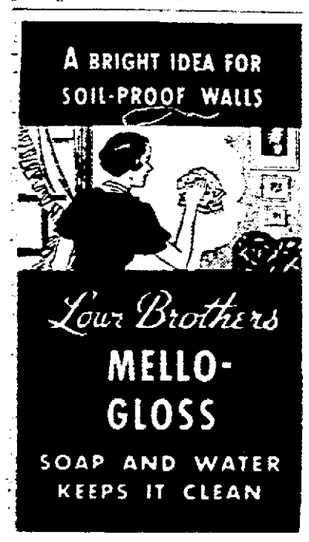

RITES TODAY

GALION—Private funeral services were to be held today at the Volk funeral home for Diana Jean Meeker, six-week-old daughter of Richard C. and Pauline Arnold Meeker. Rev. Harry R. Merle of the First Lutheran church was to officiate. Burial was to be made in Fairview cemetery.

The baby died Sunday at City hospital following an operation Saturday. She was born Feb. 14, 1941, in Galion.

GARAGE DAMAGED

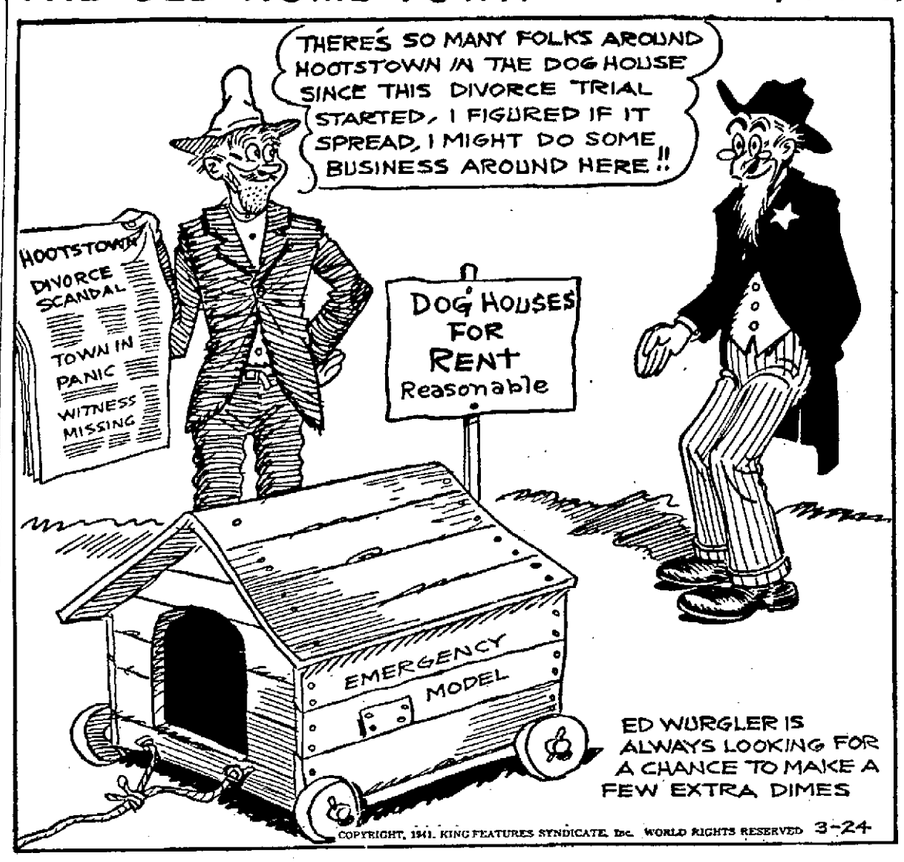

GALION—Considerable damage resulted to a garage on the James property on Grove avenue, Saturday, at 5:40 p. m., when a blaze started from sparks that came from a bonfire nearby. A large hole was burned in the south wall and the roof of the garage was charred by the fire. The Galion fire department was summoned to extinguish the blaze.

ILLNESS FATAL

Morris H. Shively, 82, Former Mansfield Man, Dies.

A short illness ended Sunday in the death of Morris H. Shively, 82, at the home of his son, Harry, in Toledo. Mr. Shively, a former Mansfield resident, was born in Mifflin, April 26, 1859. He had been a resident of Pavonia for the past 20 years.

Survivors are two sons, Harry, of Toledo, and Tola of McComb, O.; three sisters, Mrs. Hugh Clark, Mrs. J. F. Elliott, and Mrs. Effie White, all of Mansfield; one brother, E. R. Shively, of Oakmont, Penn., and seven grandchildren. His wife, Jennie Robinson Shively, died in 1899.

The body will be at the Jones Memorial in Mansfield from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Tuesday, preceding funeral services at the Pavonia Methodist church at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Pavonia cemetery.

GALION EAGLES STAGE CONCERT

GALION—A concert was presented in Senior high school auditorium Sunday by the Galion Eagles' band. An address was given by Rev. Carl A. Sundberg, D. D., pastor of the Second Lutheran church in Springfield.

Proceeds from the program, will be turned over to Lucy Ailer, school health and visiting teacher, for the purpose of purchasing clothing for indigent children in Galion schools.

The band was directed by Harrie Lee Bland. Besides ensemble numbers, the program included vocal solos by John Courtney with Dorothy Plack at the piano; baritone solo, by George Rule; tuba solo by Ellsworth Schneglesberger; baton twirling by Glenn Dale Hoffman.

HEADS BAR

BUCYRUS—Attorney John Carroll of Bucyrus was elected president of the Crawford County Bar association at the annual reorganization held last week at the Elks home. Carroll succeeds Attorney Victor Vollrath.

Other officers elected to serve this year are: Attorney Frederick Baerkircher, vice president; Paul Kennedy, secretary-treasurer and executive committee members. Judge Constance R. Keller, Judge C. U. Ahl, Judge J. Walter Wright, Judge Charles F. Schaber and Attorney Carl Gugler.

MAKE DRESSES

LUCAS—A consignment of 25 flannel dresses, made by the girls in the home economics courses of the Lucas schools, was delivered to the Richland county Red Cross last week, according to Miss Beatrice Meacham, local home economics instructor.

The dresses, for six and ten year old children, were made of cotton flannel and wool plaid flannel. They were designed and made during the present school term.

HOSPITAL NOTES

CRESTLINE—Dismissals from Crestline Emergency hospital include Mrs. Fritz Holcker and infant daughter, Carol Lynner; C. W. Feller, Tiro; Mrs. Orie Garverick, North Thoman street, and Mrs. Harry Whoolery, Portland, Ore.

CHILDREN, GRANDCHILDREN AT ANNIVERSARY OF GALION PAIR

GALION—All of the children came home, the grandchildren and great grandchildren, for the family dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Decker of South street when the couple observed their 50th wedding anniversary. Although the anniversary was not until today, it was celebrated Sunday by the couple in order that the children could be present.

During the day, Mr. and Mrs Decker received cards, telegrams and flowers in commemoration of the anniversary. There were covers laid for 21 for the dinner. Gold, silver and white appointments were used on the table.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Decker was Mary Lucy Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder of near Mt. Gilead. Her husband, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Decker, also lived near Mt. Gilead. The couple went to the Methodist parsonage to exchange vows on March 24, 1891. For the first three years after their marriage they lived part of the time near Mt. Gilead, and the other part on a farm three miles east of Bucyrus. For the past 47 years they have lived in Galion in the neighborhood of their present address. Last winter, Mr. Decker retired after working for 30 years for the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company.

The couple are both members of the United Brethren church. Mrs. Decker is an active member of the Woman's Relief Corps, the Sons and Daughters of Liberty, the Past Councilors clubs of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty. Golden Link council of the Daughters of America.

They have three daughters and one son, Mrs. Pearl Rockwell of Marion, Mrs. Hazel Benedict of Reading, Pa., and Florence at home, and Ralph Decker of Gill avenue, Galion. There are nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

WIN HONORS

Shelby High School Students Take Events at Fremont.

SHELBY — Two Shelby high school students, John Purdy and Jeanne Garvin, won individual honors in a district Ohio High School Speech tournament Saturday at Fremont.

Purdy won the dramatic division of the Fremont tournament while Miss Garvin took first place in original oratory. Both students will take part in the state finals at Columbus, April 4-5.

Other Shelby students placing in the Fremont tournament were Thelma Van Wagner, who took second place in original oratory; Yvonne Brumback, third in dramatic declamation; and John Smith and Jo Ann Stock, third and fourth in humorous declamation.

ASHLAND COON CHASE HELD

Galion, Crestline, Mansfield Men Are Judges at Event Having 98 Entries.

GALION—R. W. Stall of Galion was one of the tree judges for the Ashland County Coon Chase which was held Sunday at the Ashland county fairgrounds. Others who served with him were Howard Miller of Crestline and Carl Steward of Mansfield. The line judges were Vernon Danels of Ontario and Jay Whitney of Ashland.

There were 98 dogs entered and run in the chase. The first tree was won by Midnight Flyer, a dog owned by Lenhart of Canton; second tree winner was Brown Buzzer owned by Baker of Columbus.

First line dog was Bill, owned by Pipes of Loudonville; and the second line dog was Red Star owned by Metz and Moore of Shelby.

R. W. Stall of Galion, who is president of the Crawford County Coon Hunters association, announced today that the first annual chase of the Crawford county association will be held next Sunday, March 30, and will start at 11:30 a. m. and continue throughout the day. This will be held at the fairgrounds near Bucyrus. The chase will be run for a guaranteed purse, he said.

It is expected that sportsmen and hunters from this entire section of the state will either have dogs there to participate or they will be present as spectators.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking for Myself.

I THINK it is time someone debunked the old-fashioned, or Charles Dana Gibson, version of the Stage Door John.

The motion pictures have portrayed and promulgated a Stage Door John of this school who with a group of similarly - dressed dandies in the background — who stands patiently under a top hat wearing an Inverness cape and carrying a transparent box of orchids in his hand.

Kilgallen.

This fellow, in my opinion, belongs on the cinema shelf with such unbelievable film characters as the reporter who calls up his paper and dictates headlines to the manager editor.

I don't say there is not any such thing as a gentleman in a tailcoat waiting for a chorine in the alleyway of a Broadway show, but I do say that such sights are rare and far between, and that in my rounds the boys I see waiting for ladies of the female ensemble are usually wrapped in polo coats.

Just for fun, I went around the other evening at 11 to see what the stage door group around "Panama Hattie" looked like. Analyzing quickly, I found: (a) no top hats; (b) no flowers.

The loitering lads who had dates with belles from the most popular musical in town were, in the order of their arrival: Two salesmen, an agent, two college boys (on a week-end), one musician and two chorus boys from other shows, two press agents, one judge, one doctor, one lawyer, and a scattering of husbands.

I realize, of course, that Daryl Zanuck will never believe me and that the next time Tyrone Power plays a Stage Door John, he will play it in pearl studs.

I think Eddy Duchin would make a great Gershwin in the soon-to-be-made biography of the great musician . . . I like travelogues best when they show places I've been to. Then it's fun to try and recognize familiar spots before the lens passes them by . . .

I don't like mass meeting or any sort of wild crowds. I can no more imagine myself part of a mob storming a citadel than I can imagine myself going to see a revival of Clark Gable's "Parnell" . . .

I love cinnamon toast for breakfast . . . I don't like the titles the 42nd street movie houses put on the marquees. "Gangster Turns Newspaperman" will be advertised outside, and when you get into your loge seat it turns out they are showing the very dull "Dispatch From Reuters," with Edward G. Robinson.

* * *

I was happy to see that Lefty Gomez pitched so well the other day. When Lefty is going good, the stories about him are always wonderful reading.

I'd go daffy if I had to catch a 7:48 a. m. train every day, but I admire those who can do it week after week and year after year without cutting paper dolls.

I'm fond of New Yorkers who stop on windy corners to give directions to out-of-towners . . . I like the old Marx Brothers pictures better than the recent ones . . . I like fiction stories by Katharine Brush. Been reading her stuff ever since "Young Man of Manhattan" (who, I understand, was really a young man of Pittsburgh).

Broadway lads must get to hate girls who don't drink, but who order champagne because it looks so nice on the table . . . I think pie for breakfast might be a good idea, but I've never had nerve enough to try it . . .

I'm a firm believer in the weather man, and although I've had the way he works explained to me 80 times, I still am amazed at the way he knows today that day after tomorrow it will be "slightly warmer, with northwesterly winds."

Sometimes I'd like to meet the weather man . . .

I like Simone Simon's new red hat. It's shaped like the little cap worn in pictures of La Belle France. She wore it to the opening of Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe and looked bright as a Spring tulip.

Wonder why nobody stops those boys who try to sell tickets to radio broadcasts. It's illegal, isn't it? One of them stopped Helen Hayes one Sunday night when she was going into CBS and tried to sell her tickets to the Helen Hayes broadcast . . .

Never saw George Jean Nathan smoke a cigaret without using a holder.

HOLLYWOOD —"That Night in Rio." Screenplay by George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long, additional dialogue by Samuel Hoffenstein, from play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler. Directed by Irving Cummings. Principals: Alice Fay, Don Ameche, Carmen Miranda, S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Curt Bois, Leonid Kinskey, Carmen Miranda's orchestra.

Tuneful, gaudily brilliant in color, longer on plot than its predecessors in the bidding for South American favor, "That Night in Rio" looks like a winter north and south of the Equator.

ROBBIN COONS

Unlike "Down Argentine Way," which offended its locale in several respects, the new film seems to be free of diplomatic faux pas—unless Brazilians are taking offense nowadays at the suggestion that Latins are NOT lousy lovers.

The plot is reminiscent of the old 20th Century film, "Folies Bergere," done with Maurice Chevalier and Constance Bennett, and has implications of the Lunt-Fontanne piece, "The Guardsman," though decidedly without the latter's subtlety.

Ameche plays a dual role—the North American entertainer and the suave Brazilian socialite he impersonates. The entertainer is married to explosive Miranda, the socialite to Alice Faye. When a big business deal involving the Brazilian's airline arises, the cafe singer is pressed into service to impersonate him for an evening, with the usual mistaken identity complications extending into the private lives of all—and going as far as the movie code allows. Not very far, but far enough.

Miranda, singing, dancing and playing the tempestuous hell-cat, has enough liveliness and tropical allure to imbue the proceedings with vigor even if Ameche, Faye and the others were slack, which they aren't. Ameche, in fact, is excellent in both his roles, and Miss Faye, singing again, is a treat in color.

The emphasis is mostly on music, dancing and comedy, making the film passing fair in the light entertainment division.

Chatter Corner

(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Civic music post-mortem: General Chairman Mrs. Paul F. Cropper promising herself she'd sleep for a week, after the Saturday night campaign wind-up, but buzzing around town with friend husband Sunday afternoon. . . . Mrs. Mercedes Walker dining with the John W. Grahams. . . . Practically everyone clapping hands over the booking of the National symphony. . . . Harry Mehock betting on Lakewood to win the Class A state basketball title and losing.

MARTIN WARNS GOP OF PERIL FACING NATION

Tells Party Heads We're on Road to War, Confronted With Bankruptcy.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Republican national committee today received the resignation of Chairman Joseph W. Martin, jr., and promptly rejected it unanimously.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr., (Mass.,) in his role as chairman of the Republican National committee, declared today that the United States was staggering "along in the direction of war" and "face to face with the possibility of national bankruptcy."

Under the circumstances, he said, the responsibility of the Republican party was to "police and audit the New Deal administration to protect our country from financial, political and social bankruptcy. . . .

"The scandals of 1918 must not be repeated."

Addressing a closed meeting of the national committee called to discuss organization problems, Martin, the house minority leader, asserted in his prepared speech that there was a genuine need for national unity in forwarding defense plans, but said this must not be achieved by destroying the two-party system.

"A vigorous, courageous Republican party," he said, "is essential to police and audit the New Deal administration as it revels in the spending of 30 or 40 billions of dollars and in the possession of vast and unparalleled powers granted it only because of urgent needs of national defense."

Approximately 80 of the committee's 106 men and women members were here for the party's first big meeting since the 1940 elections.

Martin had announced he would tender his resignation as chairman today because his house floor duties prevented him from giving national committee tasks the time they required. But he was described as willing to keep the chairmanship, provided a salaried executive director is named to relieve him of much of the committee work. Martin receives no pay as chairman.

GREW PROTESTS JAP ASSAULTS

U. S. Envoy Joins French In Action, Gets Apology From Matsuoka.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, acting on behalf of the diplomatic corps, has protested vigorously to Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka over "recent cases of actual bodily attacks or insulting behavor on the part of Japanese nationals" against foreign diplomatic officials, it was disclosed today.

Grew's protest was the immediate outgrowth of an incident involving Count Tascher de la Pagerie, French commercial attache, whose leg was broken Feb. 28 in a scuffle with a Japanese taxi driver at Kobe and who later was declared to have been subjected to mistreatment by Japanese police and customs officials.

Matsuoka, who received the protest before departing on his current trip to Europe, was said to have apologized profusely.

The French made representations to the Japanese immediately after the Kobe incident. Grew's protest was made in support of these representations and was broadened to cover other recent cases of a similar nature.

Joy Over Tourney Win Silenced By Grief Over Death

GLENFORD, O. — (AP) — There was little "noise making" in this southern Ohio community today as Glenford high school's state Class B cage champions returned to classrooms after capturing the coveted state title in Columbus Saturday.

Instead, this Perry county village was silent in tribute to one of its leading citizens, George Swinehart, 72, who died while listening to a radio account of Glenford's second-round victory over Hicksville. Swinehart's son, Dwight, played in the tourney, unaware of his father's death.

Then too, cage championships are not new here, although this is the first time Glenford has captured the state title. However, the towns people will celebrate Wednesday evening at the annual athletic banquet in the school gymnasium.

COAL WAGE NEGOTIATIONS GO INTO FINAL WEEK IN NEW YORK

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Wage-hour negotiations for the Appalachian soft coal industry entered the critical stage today with only a week to go before 70 per cent of the nation's bituminous supply is cut off automatically unless a new two-year contract is reached before midnight, March 31.

Negotiators representing 338,000 miners and 21 operators' associations in the eight-state area got "down to the bedrock of wage discussions" after nearly two weeks devoted to minor phases of the contract.

The 1939-40 closed shop contract, under which members of the United Mine Workers of America dug coal 35 hours a week for a daily basic wage of $6 in the north and $5.60 in the south, expires next Monday at midnight.

If a new agreement is not reached by that time the miners, under the UMWA's rule of "no contract, no work," will walk out.

Increased industrial demand for soft coal, due largely to the national defense program and in part to stocking against possibility of an Appalachian shutdown, supplied pressure on negotiations to reach an agreement this week.

The miners are demanding a flat $1-a-day wage increase, two weeks vacation with pay, and a guarantee of 200 working days a year. In open and executive discussions thus far the operators have rejected the demands, but no formal vote has been taken in the joint negotiating committee on any contract proposals.

An increase in coal prices generally was expected, even if a shut-down is forestalled.

DIES AT HOME

Henry P. Loesch Succumbs; Rites Set For Tuesday.

Henry P. Loesch, 56, of 309 Hammond avenue, died at his home Saturday night following a lingering illness.

Mr. Loesch spent the greater part of his life in Mansfield, coming here from Louisville, Ky., where he was born Oct. 10, 1884.

He had been employed at Schmutzler's cafe for the past 20 years, retiring four years ago because of ill health. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Survivors are his widow, Bessie; one son Richard, of Bridgeport, Conn.; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Ernsberger and Marie Loesch, both of Mansfield; three brothers, Peter, Michael, and George Loesch; one sister, Mrs. Frank Miller, and three grandchildren, all living in Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Herman L. Gilbert will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

RITES SET FOR 3 GAS VICTIMS

Father, 2 Small Children Found Dead In Automobile.

PONTIAC, Mich.— (INS) —Triple funeral services were arranged today for Joseph Schilling, 49, and his two small daughters, Joan, 8, and Jean, 6, whose bodies were found inside the family automobile parked in the garage at the rear of their home.

The trio died of carbon monoxide gas, police said. The bodies were discovered by another Schilling child, Margaret, 17. Beside the bodies was a dead bulldog. Police said that Schilling, a factory worker, apparently had taken the lives of his children and himself.

CELEBRATION ENDS IN JAIL

Two Youths at CCC Camp Held After Destroying Property.

The parting celebration of two colored youths leaving the Mansfield CCC camp yesterday landed the pair in the county jail today.

While camp officials refused to comment on the case, deputy sheriffs said they understood the youths were accused of destroying bunk mattresses and other camp property in their quarters during a celebration. It was expected that charges of malicious destruction of property would be filed against the pair today.

One of the youths is 18 and lives in Cleveland. The other, 20, was preparing to return to his home in Warren after the camp period.

Laff-a-Day

"By the way, Miss, are you looking for something in a uniform?"

Harry Schlegal, member of the city engineering department, and three golfing friends received an unusual welcome Saturday afternoon in their first spring foursome at Possum Run course. Halfway around the course, the group found a possum sitting in the middle of the fairway extending them a cordial welcome.

A sure sign of spring for residents of Lexington is the annual drive of the local Boy Scout Troop 1 to raise funds for scout activities during the year. As usual, the drive takes the form of a house-to-house sale of horseradish. The scouts gather the roots and prepare and bottle it for local consumption. An interesting economy practiced by the scouts is to collect bottles used last year, refilling them and then selling the product. Simon Sief is scoutmaster of the Lexington troop.

CITY APPROVES

Gives State Final O. K. on B. and O. Crossing Span.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today that he had approved final specifications for the overhead grade crossing elimination at West Fourth street and the city limits from the state highway department.

The overhead, which will cross the B. & O. railroad, will be built through city, county, state and federal cooperation.

Crafton said that the approval of the plans was a mere formality. He also stated that no actual estimates could be released as yet because the federal and county shares in the project had not been announced.

The overhead proposal was approved by council at its February meeting.

MAN OR MOUSE? HERE'S A TEST

Psychologist Studies Mice, Learns Their Leading Traits.

HARTFORD, Conn. —(U.P.)— Dr. Robert W. Hutt supplied a simple test today whereby each individual may determine his answer to the question: Are you a man or a mouse?

Hutt, Trinity professor of Psychology, found in a study of mice that they are most strongly motivated, in the order named, by:

1. Hunger.
2. Sex.
3. Concern for their offspring.

MOTHER HEARS SHOTS, FINDS BOTH VICTIMS

Tells Coroner Husband Had Been Moody Since Reading Of Chicago Murder.

(By International News Service)

BOWLING GREEN—A 40-year-old Bowling Green department store clerk early today shot his 11-year-old daughter to death as she slept, then fired a bullet through his head to complete the murder-suicide.

Merlin Robertson, 40, clerk in one of the city's oldest department stores, was found beside the bed of his daughter, Laurel, 11, with a bullet through his head. The child was sprawled across the bed.

The father and daughter were found by Mrs. Bertha Robertson, 40, who said her husband suddenly arose from the breakfast table and asked, "where's Laurel?"

She answered that Laurel was still in bed. Her husband left the room, Mrs. Robertson told police, and a few seconds later two shots rang out.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. Robertson rushed to her daughter's bedroom and found her husband lying on the floor in a pool of blood and the child on the bed, a bullet through her temple.

Mrs. Robertson said she had heard no talking and that her husband appeared normal when he left the kitchen.

According to Coroner W. H. Mannhardt, a .38 calibre revolver was used by Robertson.

Mrs. Robertson, an assistant state NYA supervisor for girls, declared that her husband had borrowed the gun more than a week ago to kill rats.

She said they had not argued at the kitchen table but that her husband had been "moody" since reading of a murder and attempted suicide in Chicago Saturday.

$2,000,000 To Be Spent Near Camp, Delegation Told

HATTIESBURG, Miss.—(U.P.)—A civic delegation from Hattiesburg returned home today from Washington with word that nearly $2,000,000 will be appropriated by the federal government for physical improvements in and around this city, which has "mushroomed" under the impetus of Camp Shelby, 10 miles away.

The funds will provide $200,000 for a recreation center for soldiers, $116,000 for a health center, $550,000 for expansion of school facilities in Forrest and Perry counties; $800,000 for airport improvement and an additional sum for housing construction.

Approximately 17,000 Ohio soldiers are training at Camp Shelby.

BUS BOY GETS PLAY PRODUCED

So He Quits Automat Job—His Play Opens Saturday.

NEW YORK—(AP)—One of the best bus boys the Fourteenth street automat ever had hung up his white coat for the last time early today, and maybe it's just as well; he was dropping dishes all last night.

For George Donald Batson, who began writing plays 10 years ago when he was 15, is now a full-fledged professional playwright.

His comedy, "Treat Her Gently," starring Ruth Chatterton, opens in Amarillo, Texas, this Saturday and is due on Broadway next season.

LEARN TO SING BY TELEPHONE!

New York School Will Call You Up And Teach You.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A chain of New York music schools today announced they were ready to give singing lessons—by telephone.

The lessons, consisting of three five-minute phone calls and two rest periods, last a half hour.

The system, according to the school officials, give housewives a chance to learn, and puts nervous pupils at their ease.

sellout," an opposition leader declared.

"If we ignored, this government will have to assume responsibility for the trouble which inevitably will follow."

Tens of thousands of men and women in the World war born kingdom demonstrated against any Axis hook-up over the weekend. Countless massages to the palace called on Prince Paul to resist Axis demands.

Across the Adriatic, Italy yesterday celebrated the 22nd anniversary of the founding of Fascist fighting groups and a party order of the day assured Premier Mussolini that "under your orders we shall as always win."

In Africa, British forces driving northward toward Addis Ababa from Kenya colony and Italian Somaliland claimed the capture from the Italians of Neghelli, strategically important southern Ethiopian town.

British mechanized columns swept nearly 140 miles to seize Neghelli, and observers said the remaining 275-mile stretch to Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, was "easy-going country," with little opposition expected up to a point within 50 miles of the capital.

British general headquarters in Cairo said British troops had beaten off seven violent Italian counter-attacks outside Cheren and "again are making headway."

Premier Mussolini's high command noted that "the enemy renewed furious attacks in the Cheren sector . . . but was repulsed everywhere with heavy losses."

British RAF bombers, striking overnight while bad weather on the continent grounded Nazi raiders, pounded Berlin in a "medium heavy" assault and bombed the German ports of Kiel and Hanover.

"In various sections of Berlin, incendiary and explosive bombs were dropped from great altitude, causing attic fires in some places," a German communique acknowledged.

It also said "some civilians were killed and several injured."

Lord Beaverbrook, British minister for aircraft production, told Britons yesterday that England has vast hidden stores of bombers and fighters ready for the battle of Britain. A communique said the RAF is receiving big four-motored bombers flown across the sea from the United States.

Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, en route to Berlin and Rome for conferences with Axis leaders, arrived in Moscow yesterday and remarked that the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact was "the greatest foreign instrument for Japan" and that Japanese foreign policy would "revolve around it as a pivot."

Berlin Claims New Successes at Sea.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—German U-boats and aircraft, striking at British shipping in the Atlantic, North Sea and Mediterranean, have sunk at least 30,000 and possibly as much as 48,000 tons in addition to damaging five large vessels and a cruiser at Malta, the German high command said today.

The high command credited U-boats with having destroyed 27,500 tons of merchant shipping, including three tankers, in the Atlantic, and said German aircraft in widespread operations had sunk two vessels totaling 2,500 tons, left two 6,000-tonners in sinking condition and successfully attacked another 6,000-ton ship.

German bombers, in a raid on the Mediterranean island of Malta, were reported to have attacked a convoy. Hits with bombs of the heaviest caliber were scored on five large freighters and passenger liners and a direct hit was made on a cruiser escorting the convoy, the high command said.

An armed merchantman of 6,000 tons was attacked successfully from low altitude near the Shetland islands, the high command said.

Machine-Gun Nazi Troops on Parade

LONDON—(AP)—An aerial machine-gun attack on German soldiers parading before breakfast outside barracks near Cherbourg was reported today by British fliers returning from a daylight air raid on the German-held French coast.

The daylight blows followed upon raids overnight by British bombers on Berlin while bad weather grounded all but a few German warplanes.

"After bombing the docks at Cherbourg this morning," the Air Ministry News Service said, "a coastal command Blenheim dived and dealt effectively with light gun positions on the outer mole.

"Diving further to 100 feet, the aircraft found the main street of Barfleur, near Cherbourg, occupied by German troops on a pre-breakfast parade. They were heavily machine-gunned."

CONSTERNATION

Women See Face At Transom—It Belongs to Policeman.

BOSTON — (AP) — Eight women became hysterical, Police Sergt. Thomas P. Davin reported, when he peeked over the transom of a room in which they were sitting.

He and other officers assisted them out to waiting patrol cars. They were charged with gambling on the Lord's day. Gavin said they were playing poker.

treated at General hospital for shock. Also taken to the hospital was Carl G. Marberg, father of the driver of the car, who received minor injuries. He was riding in the automobile.

The younger Marberg told police he did not see the stop sign in front of the Armory as he drove east on Fourth street and onto Ashland road. The bus, operated by Cletus D. Emerson, Smithville, was headed west.

Explaining to state highway patrolmen that he was confused by the lights of a parked car at Roxy's inn west of the city, Melvin J. Hunter, 21, Mansfield, R. D. 4, drove 30 feet off the highway and into the front of the parked car about 1 a. m. Sunday, state patrolmen said.

Three persons, two in the parked car and one in Hunter's car, were injured, none seriously.

Injured in the freak accident were Mary Linster, 33, of 190 Sycamore street, who suffered laceration and bruises; Mrs. John Spiker, 39, same address, sprained ankle, and Jake Gaubatz, 15, of 360 Fourth avenue. Gaubatz, riding with Hunter, received head and face injuries, losing all but three of his teeth. He was in General hospital today.

James H. Nail, 30 of 321 West Fifth street, owner of the parked car, was not in the car when the accident occurred. John Spiker, third passenger in it, escaped injuries.

Hunter was cited by state patrolmen for driving a car with fictitious license plates and was fined $75 and costs today in municipal court. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $65 of the fine on the condition that Hunter pay the hospital bill for the three persons who were injured and help pay for damage to Nail's car.

Suffering lacerations and bruises early Sunday when the car in which they were riding skidded and overturned three times on route 30 west of Crestline, Miss Ruth Moore, Shelby, and Joseph Vuckovitch, Crestline, were treated at Crestline Emergency hospital. They were not hurt seriously. Glen Hipp, Crestline, the driver; Pete Kemle, Crestline, and Miss Helen Faust, Shelby, passengers, were not injured.

Fatalities in Ohio included William Fox, 46, of Columbia Center, killed in an accident at Elyria; Frederick Dennis, 20, fatally injured in a mishap at Toledo, and William Hitchcock, 31, and Frank Hajra, 62, both of Cleveland.

The two deaths in Cleveland boosted the city's toll for 1941 to 43, an increase of 17 over the same period last year.

4 KITE FLIERS DIE IN POND

Children of WPA Worker Drowned In Mill Pond.

IRWIN, Pa.— (INS) —The first warm winds of spring spelled tragedy today for John Kustra, WPA worker who lives near Herminie. Four of his children were drowned Sunday when they rushed out on a frozen mill pond to retrieve a kite, and crashed through the thin ice. They ranged in age from five to nine years.

Rear Admiral H. Pott, naval attache of the British embassy at Washington, said last night that he knew of no British warship coming to this country for repairs "in the near future."

British Unleash New Bombers On Berlin

BULLETIN

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony—(AP)—The British claimed today that British Somaliland, captured by the Italians last August, again is "under control of our forces" and the road from Berbera, capital and chief port, to Hargeisa, about 100 miles inland, "is now open."

LONDON—(U.P.)—British bomber formations, believed to include big, new four-motored planes carrying unusually heavy bomb loads, rained heavy high explosives and many incendiaries on Berlin, Hanover and Kiel and caused large explosions, the air ministry said today.

In the raid on Berlin, the 38th of the war, the big Anhalter station was believed to have been damaged, and the air ministry reported "very large explosions" at Hanover and a big fire at the Denhelder naval base that was visible from "near the English coast."

Attacks on a smaller scale were directed at coastal targets in northwest Germany and enemy-occupied territory, the air ministry said.

One Royal Air Force plane and two from the coastal command, which attacked enemy shipping off the Dutch coast, were said to be missing.

The latest British raids came only a few hours after Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, announced that Britain now had more planes than at any time in its history.

SENATE HEARS KNUDSEN BOAST

Takes Up Aid Fund Bill, After Statement Our Production Will Double Germany's.

Henry L. Stimson and Knox to handle the release of all war materials to foreign governments under the lend-lease bill.

Knudsen's optimism regarding this nation's productive capacity was shown in his replies to questions about the ability of industry to absorb orders for $7,000,000,000 worth of equipment in the next two years.

"Yes, sir, that will be my problem," Knudsen replied. "Of course there's a lot of doubt in people's minds as to whether we could produce that many man-hours in America within a given time, but we have such great reserve supplies to draw from, we have such great experience behind us, it is only this learning and tooling, that we have to go through.

Once we surmount that there isn't any question in my mind that we can make twice as much as anybody else can make; and I say that advisedly. I have been in the countries over there. I have seen the plants. I have operate plants over there: and when it comes to getting tooled up, after we do that over here you won't have to be concerned about the output, I am quite sure."

Knudsen told the committee that if congress makes the full $7,000,000,000 immediately available in cash, it will facilitate quicker and cheaper production of war materials. This woud not be so if the outlay were broken up into several appropriations, he said.

Replying to criticism to Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., and Sen. McKellar, D., Tenn., that their states had been overlooked in the placing of huge defense orders, Knudsen told them that the new American-British war purchases would be spread all over the United States.

Knudsen estimated that the expansion of the defense program would place another 3,000,000 unemployed men in jobs "before the end of the summer.

BLAZE STRIKES ZITZER STORE, APARTMENTS

Fireman Overcome While In Smoke-Filled Building; Three Flee Homes.

age was caused in the store and cellar. Much of Zitzer's stock was badly damaged when it tumbled into the basement as the floor collapsed. Chief Seeburger said that he had noticed the weakened floor and had warned firemen to stay off it.

So thick was the smoke and so great the need for auxiliary firemen, that those off duty for the day were summoned to the scene. They pushed hose through a side door to flood the cellar and store and another line down from the second story into the store.

Chief Seeburger said that the excessive smoke, the worst he had experienced in several years, was caused by the articles in the cellar and the lack of windows in the building. Smoke worked between the walls and poured through the bricks and openings at the eaves.

Neither Michael Holzmiller, owner of the building, nor Zitzer would venture estimates of their losses today but said that they expected it would run into the thousands.

front of the store were threatened with a ducking and possible injury when a stream from one of the lines within the building hit the plate glass store window. The window bulged widely under the strain but did not break. The same stream spun washing machines, radios, refrigerators and other articles about the store.

Chief Seeburger said that the floor collapsed when the water pumped into the cellar subsided. Zitzer said that about six refrigerators, a dozen washing machines, his safe and desk were plunged into the cellar.

The building had been inspected several times for fire hazards, according to the chief, and Zitzer had been notified of their existence. The packing cases and other materials in the cellar had been considered as possible obstructions to firemen and also possible causes for fire.

Safety-Service Director C. M. Crafton was one of several city officials on the scene and reported that the new two-way pressure maintainance valve which replaced the city's pumping station appeared to be working satisfactorily. He stated that the valve, purchased for $1,000 and relieving the city of a $12,000 annual cost for pumping, supplied adequate water to fight the fire.

Vote Tomorrow On Bond Issue For Plymouth School

The Richland county board of elections was ready today for a special school bond election Tuesday in the Plymouth township school district where voters will approve or reject a proposed $47,500 bond issue for a new grade school building.

The election will mark the second time this year that county school district voters will go to the polls to ballot on a bond issue. About two months ago Madison township voters rejected a bond issue for school improvements.

Electors in Plymouth township, Richland county, and a section of Huron county which is in the Plymouth district will vote tomorrow on the building project.

If approved, the bonds would provide the sponsor's share of a $77,500 project calling for construction of a six-room building to replace the present structure.

Polls will open at 6:30 a. m. tomorow and will remain open until 6:30 in the evening. Fewer than 1,000 voters are expected to cast ballots.

TWO DEFENSE STRIKES ENDED

Workers Agree to Go Back to Jobs at Harvill and Aluminum Plants.

Bethlehem has 18,000 employes and a billion in defense contracts.

At Chicago 1,386 policemen, nearly a fourth of the city force, were marshaled for the reopening of the McCormick works of the International Harverster company, closed for three weeks by a CIO strike for union recognition, wage increases and other demands.

An AFL organizer said 4,000 AFL unionists were determined to return to work "and nothing will stop them."

Slashing of automobile tires belonging to an AFL steward and heckling of AFL workers were the only incidents accompanying the back to work march. Organizers Harry O'Reilly and Irving Brown of the AFL declared about 3,000 went through the gates for the 7 a. m. shift at the reopening of the big plant at 26th street and Western avenue.

Ford Motor company officials said at Detroit that production at their Lincoln plant was shut down this morning because of a shortage of automobile frames supplied by the strike-bound Midland Steel Products company plant. About 3,300 workers were made idle, but another 500 on maintenance and defense products reported for duty.

Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey said the situation caused by the Midland strike of 1,700 men, contending for abolition of piece work, "now has become very serious" and threatened to tie up the automobile industry throughout Michigan unless a settlement could be reached within 10 days.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking for Myself.

I THINK it is time someone debunked the old-fashioned, or Charles Dana Gibson, version of the Stage Door John.

The motion pictures have portrayed and promulgated a Stage Door John of this school who with a group of similarly - dressed dandies in the background — who stands patiently under a top hat wearing an Inverness cape and carrying a transparent box of orchids in his hand.

Kilgallen.

This fellow, in my opinion, belongs on the cinema shelf with such unbelievable film characters as the reporter who calls up his paper and dictates headlines to the manager editor.

I don't say there is not any such thing as a gentleman in a tailcoat waiting for a chorine in the alleyway of a Broadway show, but I do say that such sights are rare and far between, and that in my rounds the boys I see waiting for ladies of the female ensemble are usually wrapped in polo coats.

Just for fun, I went around the other evening at 11 to see what the stage door group around "Panama Hattie" looked like. Analyzing quickly, I found: (a) no top hats; (b) no flowers.

The loitering lads who had dates with belles from the most popular musical in town were, in the order of their arrival: Two salesmen, an agent, two college boys (on a week-end), one musician and two chorus boys from other shows, two press agents, one judge, one doctor, one lawyer, and a scattering of husbands.

I realize, of course, that Darryl Zanuck will never believe me and that the next time Tyrone Power plays a Stage Door John, he will play it in pearl studs.

I think Eddy Duchin would make a great Gershwin in the soon-to-be-made biography of the great musician . . . I like travelogues best when they show places I've been to. Then it's fun to try and recognize familiar spots before the lens passes them by . . .

I don't like mass meeting or any sort of wild crowds. I can no more imagine myself part of a mob storming a citadel than I can imagine myself going to see a revival of Clark Gable's "Parnell" . . .

I love cinnamon toast for breakfast . . . I don't like the titles the 42nd street movie houses put on the marquees. "Gangster Turns Newspaperman" will be advertised outside, and when you get into your loge seat it turns out they are showing the very dull "Dispatch From Reuters," with Edward G. Robinson.

* * *

I was happy to see that Lefty Gomez pitched so well the other day. When Lefty is going good, the stories about him are always wonderful reading.

I'd go daffy if I had to catch a 7:48 a. m. train every day, but I admire those who can do it week after week and year after year without cutting paper dolls.

I'm fond of New Yorkers who stop on windy corners to give directions to out-of-towners . . . I like the old Marx Brothers pictures better than the recent ones . . . I like fiction stories by Katharine Brush. Been reading her stuff ever since "Young Man of Manhattan" (who, I understand, was really a young man of Pittsburgh).

Broadway lads must get to hate girls who don't drink, but who order champagne because it looks so nice on the table . . . I think pie for breakfast might be a good idea, but I've never had nerve enough to try it . . .

I'm a firm believer in the weather man, and although I've had the way he works explained to me 80 times, I still am amazed at the way he knows today that day after tomorrow it will be "slightly warmer, with northwesterly winds."

Sometimes I'd like to meet the weather man . . .

I like Simone Simon's new red hat. It's shaped like the little cap worn in pictures of La Belle France. She wore it to the opening of Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe and looked bright as a Spring tulip.

Wonder why nobody stops those boys who try to sell tickets to radio broadcasts. It's illegal, isn't it? One of them stopped Helen Hayes one Sunday night when she was going into CBS and tried to sell her tickets to the Helen Hayes broadcast . . .

Never saw George Jean Nathan smoke a cigaret without using a holder.

HOLLYWOOD —"That Night in Rio." Screenplay by George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long, additional dialogue by Samuel Hoffenstein, from play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler. Directed by Irving Cummings. Principals: Alice Fay, Don Ameche, Carmen Miranda, S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Curt Bois, Leonid Kinskey, Carmen Miranda's orchestra.

Tuneful, gaudily brilliant in color, longer on plot than its predecessors in the bidding for South American favor, "That Night in Rio" looks like a winter north and south of the Equator.

ROBBIN COONS

Unlike "Down Argentine Way," which offended its locale in several respects, the new film seems to be free of diplomatic faux pas—unless Brazilians are taking offense nowadays at the suggestion that Latins are NOT lousy lovers.

The plot is reminiscent of the old 20th Century film, "Folies Bergere," done with Maurice Chevalier and Constance Bennett, and has implications of the Lunt-Fontanne piece, "The Guardsman," though decidedly without the latter's subtlety.

Ameche plays a dual role—the North American entertainer and the suave Brazilian socialite he impersonates. The entertainer is married to explosive Miranda, the socialite to Alice Faye. When a big business deal involving the Brazilian's airline arises, the cafe singer is pressed into service to impersonate him for an evening, with the usual mistaken identity complications extending into the private lives of all—and going as far as the movie code allows. Not very far, but far enough.

Miranda, singing, dancing and playing the tempestuous hell-cat, has enough liveliness and tropical allure to imbue the proceedings with vigor even if Ameche, Faye and the others were slack, which they aren't. Ameche, in fact, is excellent in both his roles, and Miss Faye, singing again, is a treat in color.

The emphasis is mostly on music, dancing and comedy, making the film passing fair in the light entertainment division.

Chatter Corner

(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Civic music post-mortem. General Chairman Mrs. Paul F Clopper promising herself she'd sleep for a week, after the Saturday night campaign wind-up. But buzzing around town with friend husband Sunday afternoon. . . . Mrs. Mercedes Walker dining with the John W. Grahams. . . . Practically everyone clapping hands over the booking of the National Symphony. . . . Harry Mebock leaving on Lakewood to win the Class A state basketball title and losing.

MARTIN WARNS GOP OF PERIL FACING NATION

Tells Party Heads We're on Road to War, Confronted With Bankruptcy.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Republican national committee today received the resignation of Chairman Joseph W. Martin, jr., and promptly rejected it unanimously.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr., (Mass.,) in his role as chairman of the Republican National committee, declared today that the United States was staggering "along in the direction of war" and "face to face with the possibility of national bankruptcy."

Under the circumstances, he said, the responsibility of the Republican party was to "police and audit the New Deal administration to protect our country from financial, political and social bankruptcy. . . .

"The scandals of 1918 must not be repeated."

Addressing a closed meeting of the national committee called to discuss organization problems, Martin, the house minority leader, asserted in his prepared speech that there was a genuine need for national unity in forwarding defense plans, but said this must not be achieved by destroying the two-party system.

"A vigorous, courageous Republican party," he said, "is essential to police and audit the New Deal administration as it revels in the spending of 30 or 40 billions of dollars and in the possession of vast and unparalleled powers granted it only because of urgent needs of national defense."

Approximately 80 of the committee's 106 men and women members were here for the party's first big meeting since the 1940 elections.

Martin had announced he would tender his resignation as chairman today because his house floor duties prevented him from giving national committee tasks the time they required. But he was described as willing to keep the chairmanship, provided a salaried executive director is named to relieve him of much of the committee work. Martin receives no pay as chairman.

GREW PROTESTS JAP ASSAULTS

U. S. Envoy Joins French In Action, Gets Apology From Matsuoka.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, acting on behalf of the diplomatic corps, has protested vigorously to Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka over "recent cases of actual bodily attacks or insultng behavor on the part of Japanese nationals" against foreign diplomatic officials, it was disclosed today.

Grew's protest was the immediate outgrowth of an incident involving Count Tascher de la Pagerie, French commercial attache, whose leg was broken Feb. 28 in a scuffle with a Japanese taxi driver at Kobe and who later was declared to have been subjected to mistreatment by Japanese police and customs officials.

Matsuoka, who received the protest before departing on his current trip to Europe, was said to have apologized profusely.

The French made representations to the Japanese immediately after the Kobe incident. Grew's protest was made in support of these representations and was broadened to cover other recent cases of a similar nature.

Joy Over Tourney Win Silenced By Grief Over Death

GLENFORD, O. —(AP)— There was little "noise making" in this southern Ohio community today as Glenford high school's state Class B cage champions returned to classrooms after capturing the coveted state title in Columbus Saturday.

Instead, this Perry county village was silent in tribute to one of its leading citizens, George Swinehart, 72, who died while listening to a radio account of Glenford's second-round victory over Hicksville. Swinehart's son, Dwight, played in the tourney, unaware of his father's death.

Then, too, cage championships are not new here, although this is the first time Glenford has captured the state title. However, the towns people will celebrate Wednesday evening at the annual athletic banquet in the school gymnasium

COAL WAGE NEGOTIATIONS GO INTO FINAL WEEK IN NEW YORK

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Wage-hour negotiations for the Appalachian soft coal industry entered the critical stage today with only a week to go before 70 per cent of the nation's bituminous supply is cut off automatically unless a new two-year contract is reached before midnight, March 31.

Negotiators representing 338,000 miners and 21 operators' associations in the eight-state area got "down to the bedrock of wage discussions" after nearly two weeks devoted to minor phases of the contract.

The 1939-40 closed shop contract, under which members of the United Mine Workers of America dug coal 35 hours a week for a daily basic wage of $6 in the north and $5.60 in the south, expires next Monday at midnight.

If a new agreement is not reached by that time the miners, under the UMWA's rule of "no contract, no work," will walk out.

Increased industrial demand for soft coal, due largely to the national defense program and in part to stocking against possibility of an Appalachian shutdown, supplied pressure on negotiations to reach an agreement this week.

The miners are demanding a flat $1-a-day wage increase, two weeks vacation with pay, and a guarantee of 200 working days a year. In open and executive discussions thus far the operators have rejected the demands, but no formal vote has been taken in the joint negotiating committee on any contract proposals.

An increase in coal prices generally was expected, even if a shut-down is forestalled.

DIES AT HOME

Henry P. Loesch Succumbs; Rites Set For Tuesday.

Henry P. Loesch, 56, of 309 Hammond avenue, died at his home Saturday night following a lingering illness.

Mr. Loesch spent the greater part of his life in Mansfield, coming here from Louisville, Ky., where he was born Oct. 10, 1884.

He had been employed at Schmutzler's cafe for the past 20 years, retiring four years ago because of ill health. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Survivors are his widow, Bessie; one son Richard, of Bridgeport, Conn.; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Ernsberger and Marie Loesch, both of Mansfield; three brothers, Peter, Michael, and George Loesch; one sister, Mrs. Frank Miller, and three grandchildren, all living in Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Herman L. Gilbert will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

RITES SET FOR 3 GAS VICTIMS

Father, 2 Small Children Found Dead In Automobile.

PONTIAC, Mich.—(INS)—Triple funeral services were arranged today for Joseph Schilling, 49, and his two small daughters, Joan, 8, and Jean, 6, whose bodies were found inside the family automobile parked in the garage at the rear of their home.

The trio died of carbon monoxide gas, police said. The bodies were discovered by another Schilling child, Margaret, 17. Beside the bodies was a dead bulldog. Police said that Schilling, a factory worker, apparently had taken the lives of his children and himself.

CELEBRATION ENDS IN JAIL

Two Youths at CCC Camp Held After Destroying Property.

The parting celebration of two colored youths leaving the Mansfield CCC camp yesterday landed the pair in the county jail today.

While camp officials refused to comment on the case, deputy sheriffs said they understood the youths were accused of destroying bunk mattresses and other camp property in their quarters during a celebration. It was expected that charges of malicious destruction of property would be filed against the pair today.

One of the youths is 18 and lives in Cleveland. The other, 20, was preparing to return to his home in Warren after the camp period.

Laff-a-Day

"By the way, Miss, are you looking for something in a uniform?"

Harry Schlegal, member of the city engineering department, and three golfing friends received an unusual welcome Saturday afternoon in their first spring foursome at Possum Run course. Halfway around the course, the group found a possum sitting in the middle of the fairway extending them a cordial welcome.

A sure sign of spring for residents of Lexington is the annual drive of the local Boy Scout Troop 1 to raise funds for scout activities during the year. As usual, the drive takes the form of a house-to-house sale of horseradish. The scouts gather the roots and prepare and bottle it for local consumption. An interesting economy practiced by the scouts is to collect bottles used last year, refilling them and then selling the product. Simon Sief is scoutmaster of the Lexington troop.

CITY APPROVES

Gives State Final O. K. on B. and O. Crossing Span.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today that he had approved final specifications for the overhead grade crossing elimination at West Fourth street and the city limits from the state highway department.

The overhead, which will cross the B. & O. railroad, will be built through city, county, state and federal cooperation.

Crafton said that the approval of the plans was a mere formality. He also stated that no actual estimates could be released as yet because the federal and county shares in the project had not been announced.

The overhead proposal was approved by council at its February meeting.

MAN OR MOUSE? HERE'S A TEST

Psychologist Studies Mice, Learns Their Leading Traits.

HARTFORD, Conn.—(U.P.)—Dr. Robert W. Hutt supplied a simple test today whereby each individual may determine his answer to the question: Are you a man or a mouse?

Hutt, Trinity professor of Psychology, found in a study of mice that they are most strongly motivated, in the order named, by:

1. Hunger.
2. Sex.
3. Concern for their offspring.

MOTHER HEARS SHOTS, FINDS BOTH VICTIMS

Tells Coroner Husband Had Been Moody Since Reading Of Chicago Murder.

(By International News Service)

BOWLING GREEN—A 40-year-old Bowling Green department store clerk early today shot his 11-year-old daughter to death as she slept, then fired a bullet through his head to complete the murder-suicide.

Merlin Robertson, 40, clerk in one of the city's oldest department stores, was found beside the bed of his daughter, Laurel, 11, with a bullet through his head. The child was sprawled across the bed.

The father and daughter were found by Mrs. Bertha Robertson, 40, who said her husband suddenly arose from the breakfast table and asked, "where's Laurel?"

She answered that Laurel was still in bed. Her husband left the room, Mrs. Robertson told police, and a few seconds later two shots rang out.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. Robertson rushed to her daughter's bedroom and found her husband lying on the floor in a pool of blood and the child on the bed, a bullet through her temple.

Mrs. Robertson said she had heard no talking and that her husband appeared normal when he left the kitchen.

According to Coroner W. H. Mannhardt, a .38 calibre revolver was used by Robertson.

Mrs. Robertson, an assistant state NYA supervisor for girls, declared that her husband had borrowed the gun more than a week ago to kill rats.

She said they had not argued at the kitchen table but that her husband had been "moody" since reading of a murder and attempted suicide in Chicago Saturday.

$2,000,000 To Be Spent Near Camp, Delegation Told

HATTIESBURG, Miss.—(U.P.)—A civic delegation from Hattiesburg returned home today from Washington with word that nearly $2,000,000 will be appropriated by the federal government for physical improvements in and around this city, which has "mushroomed" under the impetus of Camp Shelby, 10 miles away.

The funds will provide $200,000 for a recreation center for soldiers, $116,000 for a health center, $550,000 for expansion of school facilities in Forrest and Perry counties; $800,000 for airport improvement and an additional sum for housing construction.

Approximately 17,000 Ohio soldiers are training at Camp Shelby.

BUS BOY GETS PLAY PRODUCED

So He Quits Automat Job—His Play Opens Saturday.

NEW YORK—(AP)—One of the best bus boys the Fourteenth street automat ever had hung up his white coat for the last time early today, and maybe it's just as well; he was dropping dishes all last night.

treated at General hospital for shock. Also taken to the hospital was Carl G. Marberg, father of the driver of the car, who received minor injuries. He was riding in the automobile.

The younger Marberg told police he did not see the stop sign in front of the Armory as he drove east on Fourth street and onto Ashland road. The bus, operated by Cletus D. Emerson, Smithville, was headed west.

Explaining to state highway patrolmen that he was confused by the lights of a parked car at Roxy's inn west of the city, Melvin J. Hunter, 21, Mansfield, R. D. 4, drove 30 feet off the highway and into the front of the parked car about 1 a. m. Sunday, state patrolmen said.

Three persons, two in the parked car and one in Hunter's car, were injured, none seriously.

Injured in the freak accident were Mary Linster, 33, of 190 Sycamore street, who suffered laceration and bruises; Mrs. John Spiker, 39, same address, sprained ankle, and Jake Gaubatz, 15, of 360 Fourth avenue. Gaubatz, riding with Hunter, received head and face injuries, losing all but three of his teeth. He was in General hospital today.

James H. Nail, 30 of 321 West Fifth street, owner of the parked car, was not in the car when the accident occurred. John Spiker, third passenger in it, escaped injuries.

Hunter was cited by state patrolmen for driving a car with fictitious license plates and was fined $75 and costs today in municipal court. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $65 of the fine on the condition that Hunter pay the hospital bill for the three persons who were injured and help pay for damage to Nail's car.

Suffering lacerations and bruises early Sunday when the car in which they were riding skidded and overturned three times on route 30 west of Crestline, Miss Ruth Moore, Shelby, and Joseph Vuckovitch, Crestline, were treated at Crestline Emergency hospital. They were not hurt seriously. Glen Hipp, Crestline, the driver; Pete Kemle, Crestline, and Miss Helen Faust, Shelby, passengers, were not injured.

Fatalities in Ohio included William Fox, 46, of Columbia Center, killed in an accident at Elyria; Frederick Dennis, 20, fatally injured in a mishap at Toledo, and William Hitchcock, 31, and Frank Hajra, 62, both of Cleveland.

The two deaths in Cleveland boosted the city's toll for 1941 to 43, an increase of 17 over the same period last year.

sett sailed Saturday from Chester, Pa., where it arrived a week ago for repairs and a war cargo. Crew members said the vessel had been shelled by a submarine.

At Philadelphia, Commander D. D. Mercer, admiralty attache of the British consulate, said he had heard "rumors" that a damaged British cruiser would put into Norfolk for repairs "within three or four weeks."

Rear Admiral H. Pott, naval attache of the British embassy at Washington, said last night that he knew of no British warship coming to this country for repairs "in the near future."

British Unleash New Bombers On Berlin

BULLETIN

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony—(AP)—The British claimed today that British Somaliland, captured by the Italians last August, again is "under control of our forces" and the road from Berbera, capital and chief port, to Hargeisa, about 100 miles inland, "is now open."

LONDON—(U.P.)—British bomber formations, believed to include big, new four-motored planes carrying unusually heavy bomb loads, rained heavy high explosives and many incendiaries on Berlin, Hanover and Kiel and caused large explosions, the air ministry said today.

In the raid on Berlin, the 38th of the war, the big Anhalter station was believed to have been damaged, and the air ministry reported "very large explosions" at Hanover and a big fire at the Denhelder naval base that was visible from "near the English coast."

Attacks on a smaller scale were directed at coastal targets in northwest Germany and enemy-occupied territory, the air ministry said.

One Royal Air Force plane and two from the coastal command, which attacked enemy shipping off the Dutch coast, were said to be missing.

The latest British raids came only a few hours after Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, announced that Britain now had more planes than at any time in its history.

SENATE HEARS KNUDSEN BOAST

Takes Up Aid Fund Bill, After Statement Our Production Will Double Germany's.

Henry L. Stimson and Knox to handle the release of all war materials to foreign governments under the lend-lease bill.

Knudsen's optimism regarding this nation's productive capacity was shown in his replies to questions about the ability of industry to absorb orders for $7,000,000,000 worth of equipment in the next two years.

"Yes, sir, that will be my problem," Knudsen replied. "Of course there's a lot of doubt in people's minds as to whether we could produce that many man-hours in America within a given time, but we have such great reserve supplies to draw from, we have such great experience behind us, it is only this learning and tooling, that we have to go through.

Once we surmount that there isn't any question in my mind that we can make twice as much as anybody else can make; and I say that advisedly. I have been in the countries over there. I have seen the plants. I have operate plants over there: and when it comes to getting tooled up, after we do that over here you won't have to be concerned about the output, I am quite sure."

Knudsen told the committee that if congress makes the full $7,000,000,000 immediately available in cash, it will facilitate quicker and cheaper production of war materials. This woud not be so if the outlay were broken up into several appropriations, he said.

Replying to criticism to Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., and Sen. McKellar, D., Tenn., that their states had been overlooked in the placing of huge defense orders, Knudsen told them that the new American-British war purchases would be spread all over the United States.

Knudsen estimated that the expansion of the defense program would place another 3,000,000 unemployed men in jobs "before the end of the summer."

BLAZE STRIKES ZITZER STORE, APARTMENTS

Fireman Overcome While In Smoke-Filled Building; Three Flee Homes.

age was caused in the store and cellar. Much of Zitzer's stock was badly damaged when it tumbled into the basement as the floor collapsed. Chief Seeburger said that he had noticed the weakened floor and had warned firemen to stay off it.

So thick was the smoke and so great the need for auxiliary firemen, that those off duty for the day were summoned to the scene. They pushed hose through a side door to flood the cellar and store and another line down from the second story into the store.

Chief Seeburger said that the excessive smoke, the worst he had experienced in several years, was caused by the articles in the cellar and the lack of windows in the building. Smoke worked between the walls and poured through the bricks and openings at the eaves.

Neither Michael Holzmiller, owner of the building, nor Zitzer would venture estimates of their losses today but said that they expected it would run into the thousands.

front of the store were threatened with a ducking and possible injury when a stream from one of the lines within the building hit the plate glass store window. The window bulged widely under the strain but did not break. The same stream spun washing machines, radios, refrigerators and other articles about the store.

Chief Seeburger said that the floor collapsed when the water pumped into the cellar subsided. Zitzer said that about six refrigerators, a dozen washing machines, his safe and desk were plunged into the cellar.

The building had been inspected several times for fire hazards, according to the chief, and Zitzer had been notified of their existence. The packing cases and other materials in the cellar had been considered as possible obstructions to firemen and also possible causes for fire.

Safety-Service Director C. M. Crafton was one of several city officials on the scene and reported that the new two-way pressure maintainance valve which replaced the city's pumping station appeared to be working satisfactorily. He stated that the valve, purchased for $1,000 and relieving the city of a $12,000 annual cost for pumping, supplied adequate water to fight the fire.

Vote Tomorrow On Bond Issue For Plymouth School

The Richland county board of elections was ready today for a special school bond election Tuesday in the Plymouth township school district where voters will approve or reject a proposed $47,500 bond issue for a new grade school building.

The election will mark the second time this year that county school district voters will go to the polls to ballot on a bond issue. About two months ago Madison township voters rejected a bond issue for school improvements.

Electors in Plymouth township, Richland county, and a section of Huron county which is in the Plymouth district will vote tomorrow on the building project.

If approved, the bonds would provide the sponsor's share of a $77,500 project calling for construction of a six-room building to replace the present structure.

Polls will open at 6:30 a. m. tomorow and will remain open until 6:30 in the evening. Fewer than 1,000 voters are expected to cast ballots.

TWO DEFENSE STRIKES ENDED

Workers Agree to Go Back to Jobs at Harvill and Aluminum Plants.

Bethlehem has 18,000 employes and a billion in defense contracts.

At Chicago 1,386 policemen, nearly a fourth of the city force, were marshaled for the reopening of the McCormick works of the International Harverster company, closed for three weeks by a CIO strike for union recognition, wage increases and other demands.

An AFL organizer said 4,000 AFL unionists were determined to return to work "and nothing will stop them."

Slashing of automobile tires belonging to an AFL steward and heckling of AFL workers were the only incidents accompanying the back to work march. Organizers Harry O'Reilly and Irving Brown of the AFL declared about 3,000 went through the gates for the 7 a. m. shift at the reopening of the big plant at 26th street and Western avenue.

Ford Motor company officials said at Detroit that production at their Lincoln plant was shut down this morning because of a shortage of automobile frames supplied by the strike-bound Midland Steel Products company plant. About 3,300 workers were made idle, but another 500 on maintenance and defense products reported for duty.

Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey said the 'situation caused by the Midland strike of 1,700 men, contending for abolition of piece work, "now has become very serious" and threatened to tie up the automobile industry throughout Michigan unless a settlement could be reached within 10 days.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1941.

Cheer up—it won't be long until you can begin to complain about the April weather.

Demand for 1941 auto license plates is said to be "the lowest in years"—which augurs well for the last-minute rush now being confidently predicted.

Leaders Needed In All Fields

WHAT would happen if 1,000,000 American leaders in industry, transportation and learning were taken away? The question is raised by James F. Lincoln, an Ohio industrialist.

We could probably get along all right with agriculture, he believes, because "farms, large or small, don't require great leadership." But in the fields mentioned, he says, we would be so helpless than our population would starve.

"In our intricate industrial organization," he explains, "we depend upon leadership of the highest type for the maintenance of the American standard of living. We are so involved and so interdependent that it would be extremely serious if the set-up should break down for lack of leadership." He fears that such a breakdown will come after the war, and will be world-wide in its scope.

The need for leadership, supervision and management is not always taken into account or appreciated, yet a day's absence of these factors in industrial or business operation would result in unimaginable disorder.

There is constant requirement for education and training in leadership, with demand always greater than the supply. A neglected field in the development of capable leadership has been that of labor, in which there will be increasing needs and opportunities for educated, intelligent, honest, clear-thinking and dependably loyal Americans who are sincerely interested in advancing the cause of labor and who at the same time have regard for the welfare of the country as a whole.

Lack of enough leaders of the right type may have been largely responsible for infiltration of radicalism and racketeering into the ranks of organized labor—a condition which should be corrected as quickly as possible by the vast majority of labor union members and their sympathizers.

An Architectural Look Ahead

THE AMERICAN home of tomorrow may be almost as different from today's home as the latter is from Indian tent or cave. Roger Wade Sherman, managing editor of Architectural Record, in a recent interview, listed a few of the changes he anticipates.

Houses will be prefabricated along scientific lines. They will embody all the comfort, convenience, beauty and healthful qualities that the researcher and engineer can devise. One living space will flow into another, movable partitions making it possible to have privacy within a house when that is required, or a single large interior when that is wanted.

New types of heating will combine sunshine, electrical panels concealed in the walls, floors and ceilings, and completely conditioned air.

Fluorescent lamps and translucent panels, already available to create an appearance of daylight, will be perfected. Lighting fixtures as we know them today may be entirely eliminated. Bathrooms will be stamped out of a single large metal or plastic sheet. Kitchens will be more compact.

Materials will range from colorful plastics through corrosion-proofed metal alloys and synthetic surfacing materials. Parts of the picture are plastic walls hooked onto metal web frames insulated with spun glass and surfaced with colorful, soft materials proof against fire, acid and moisture.

The genie of Aladdin's lamp never did anything better than this!

Liquor-Selling To Minors

OHIO LAW is quite clear on the subject of selling intoxicants to minors, or permitting children to frequent liquor sales places—but it appears that nothing much has been done about it, either locally or over the state.

It is therefore interesting to note that Harry E. Hawley, of Mansfield, new chairman of the state liquor board, has announced that curtailment of sales to minors would be one of "the major problems" of the board.

Enforcement Chief William Cleary was also quoted as saying that while there had been no complaints about lack of such enforcement "mere observation" of conditions had prompted intensified effort.

Ohio is too large a territory to handle as a unit in enforcing the law against selling liquor to minors, but if, as is sometimes done, a "typical" city is chosen for demonstration purposes, it may seem that Mr. Hawley could do no better than to select his home city of Mansfield, which once attained national prominence as a city of "blue ribbon children." There is no inclination to have this changed to "booze ridden children."

Slum Clearance Cuts Fire Losses

EVIDENTLY slum clearance is the best way to reduce fire losses. Minneapolis claims to have reduced such losses almost 100 per cent by this procedure. An area that had been having fires at a cost of $33,000 a year had only $240 of such loss when old shacks were replaced by modern construction.

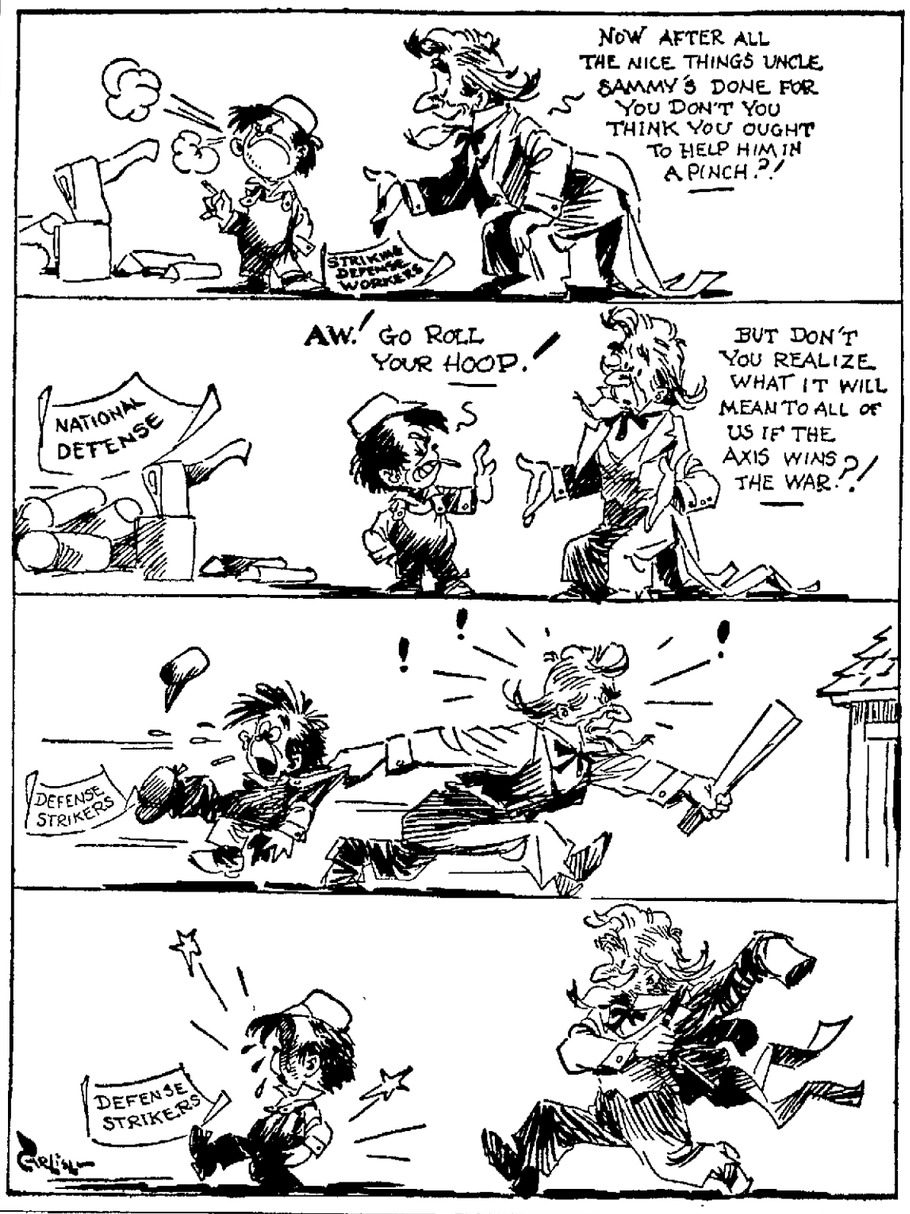

This record was made in one of the federal low-rent housing projects, where the whole construction was made as incombustible as possible. Naturally it is much harder to burn a house or apartment building definitely planned to resist fire. The wonder is that more is not being done along this line by private enterprise. Many homes, even expensive ones, are still planned without much thought for eliminating fire hazards.

Turn From Brandy To Tea

TRAVELERS lost in the snow in the Alpine region near Montreaux, Switzerland, may still be rescued by the St. Bernard dogs trained for the work by the Augustinian Canons. But, according to latest reports, the little kegs fastened to the dogs' necks now contain tea instead of brandy. It is said that the canons changed to tea when a scientist informed them it would be better for the freezing sufferers than the alcoholic beverage.

The fact that brandy no longer goes freely from France to any part of the world, even Switzerland, may have had as much to do with the change as science. Yet the good effects of hot tea may last considerably longer than those of an alcoholic stimulant.

EVENTUALLY, WHY NOT NOW?

Delay Increasing Food Production

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Apparently the U. S. government is making the same mistake in delaying making a start on increased food production that the British government is now so bitterly regretting. At the outbreak of the present war, in September, 1939, a survey by the London Times showed that there were three million acres less under cultivation than had been producing food at the end of the last war.

In the preceding years, despite the fact that the British government was feverishly preparing for war so far as military supplies and naval vessels were concerned, not only was nothing done to increase food production inside Britain, but international trade considerations were actually working in the opposite direction.

The Scotch sheep raisers, for instance, were greatly discouraged over the obvious eagerness of the government to increase British consumption of Argentine beef. There were very sound economic reasons for increasing Argentine's ability to purchase British manufactured goods, but the point is that from a military standpoint they were very unsound.

It is a long sea haul from Buenos Aires to any British port, and, preparing for war in other ways, the British government overlooked the fact that in wartime they might not be able to spare the bottoms to bring this food, not to mention the possibility that German submarines, raiders, mines and bombers might make it impossible to get the ships through at all.

THERE is not the same element of gambling with danger in the mistaken policy the United States has been pursuing, and apparently will continue to pursue for some months, at least, to come. But economically it is just as cockeyed.

For instance, the house of representatives recently included, in the agricultural appropriation bill, $225,000,000 for parity payments. When this bill reached the senate Richard B. Russell of Georgia promptly proposed an amendment to double this, making it $450,000,000.

Right along with this is the fact that the department of agriculture, with the enthusiastic approval of congress, is still working on the idea that it is sound business to pay the farmers NOT to raise food. The idea, of course, was always to hold the price up.

But the administration is struggling to hold ALL prices down. It doesn't talk about holding farm prices down, but obviously a rise in the cost of food would boost the cost of living, and hence tend to produce more labor troubles.

BUT, if the government would just take its hands off, it would not only save hundreds of millions of dollars which could be used for defense, but the farmers would eagerly rush back to the old habit of producing all they could. Thus, just by letting nature take its course, the country would avoid a food problem next year and the year afterwards.

For, make no mistake about it, we are going to need a lot more food than present farming schedules—tailored to comply with department of agriculture restrictions—call for. This is true whether the war goes on for two or three years or ends next year. If the war goes on, we are going to have to feed Britain, and certain other parts of the world. If the war stops we are going to have to feed the continent of Europe, where there is going to be a terrific food shortage.

Health and Diet

Hospital Vs. Home for Childbirth

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE of my recent articles questioned whether it was necessary for women to go to hospitals to have their babies quite as frequently as is the modern custom. This provoked quite a good deal of interesting comment in my mail. I am quoting here the letters of a mother and of a physician. They do not agree but that should make them all the more interesting.

The Mother's Letter

"As one of your interested readers I noticed the other day in your column that you couldn't see why any women go to the hospital to have babies. As a woman soon to have her third, I thought perhaps I could do no better with a few minutes' rest period than to amuse myself in giving you a woman's reasons for so doing. I know my own doctor would have preferred for me to stay at home for both other confinements, mostly for his own convenience, as it is 15 miles to the hospital and only two to my home.

"But nine out of ten women don't fear complications where hospital facilities would be an advantage. But once you've had your baby at home, there you are, in the same old bedroom you occupy year in, year out; from the next day on, all the petty cares and problems of the home come to your bedside the same as if you were on your feet, and to add insult to injury, it costs you within $5 of what peace and quiet in a hospital would cost, and if you have hospital insurance, as most of us do nowadays, the half-price on maternity care makes a hospital cheaper than staying at home.

"Personally, I'm looking forward to my third ordeal not because I relish labor, but because afterwards, like a good child receiving a candy, I'm to have my eight or nine days' vacation, the only one most of us mothers ever receive. To be sure, I shall miss the children, but it will be good for them and me to be briefly separated: I shall perhaps be 'missed' for once, and I can read books for my own pleasure rather than children's stories. Over and above my own personal considerations, my new baby will get a routined start that would be improbable if not impossible in a busy household of other children."

The Doctor's Letter

"I want to go on record as subscribing to your recently expressed opinion that nowadays more confinements should be conducted at home. I have always felt that the possibility of cross-infection was less in the home than in the hospital.

"I do not believe that the hospital offers any apparatus or other facilities for safety that cannot easily be provided at home. In my experience, the mothers are more comfortable in their own beds with their own meals. They are not annoyed by the noises and other inconveniences of even the best conducted hospitals, to say nothing of the expense.

"In a recent number of Hygeia the average fee for a delivery in a hospital was put down as between $75 and $250. My average expense to a family is now, as it has been for 20 years, in the neighborhood of $25, and I frankly don't see how most people can afford to pay $250."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Iceman-Politico of Mississippi Held Up Defense Housing Action

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Much has been said about certain big industrial and labor elements obstructing the defense program for their private gain. But theirs is no monopoly. Various others not in the public eye also are throwing "me first" monkey-wrenches into the defense machinery.

An amazing such instance that escaped general attention occurred in the house of representatives on the appropriation of $150,000,000 for defense housing.

Prompt enactment of this bill was of utmost urgency. With hundreds of thousands of defense workers packed into overcrowded, makeshift quarters, the problem of housing them is acute in the extreme, and Roosevelt personally had asked for the $150,000,000 bill to rush completion of numerous projects.

The house appropriations committee quickly approved the measure and shot it to the rules committee for a rule to place it before the house for immediate action. But in the rules committee this emergency bill struck a mysterious snag.

Something stalled it for ten days, while army, navy and defense officials tore their hair in helpless rage; and while legions of defense workers and their families shivered in unsanitary shelters. The story behind this delay borders on the fantastic.

Mighty Iceman.

A PASCAGOULA, Mississippi, iceman was the cause of it all. His name is H. F. Gautier and he plus his congressman, William M. Colmer, were able to block the urgent bill affecting scores of communities and thousands of men.

The story goes back several months, when the navy began buying land in Pascagoula to erect a housing project for shipyard workers. Some of the needed property belonged to Gautier, who was willing to sell but who had fancy ideas about price.

So the navy instituted condemnation proceedings, and a federal court fixed the price of Gautier's land at considerably less than he asked. Gautier had to abide by this decision, but he had one consolation.

As the operator of a local ice plant, he looked forward to a brisk business supplying the tenants of the housing project with ice. But this hope was short-lived. Gautier learned that electric refrigerators would be installed in the new houses.

The navy had balked him on the land deal, but now Gautier hot-footed to Washington and told his tale of woe to Congressman Colmer. Colmer took his constituent's plea to the navy, demanding that the refrigerators be eliminated. But the navy refused to be pressured.

No Frills.

IT LOOKED as if Gautier once more was out of luck. But just then the $150,000,000 housing bill reached the rules committee—of which Colmer is a member.

The bill contained a provision for refrigerators and ranges similar to those to be installed in the Pascagoula project. Colmer saw his chance. With a flurry of press statements he denounced such appliances as "frills," and demanded that they be barred in low-cost dwellings.

For ten days the battle raged over the issue. Meanwhile Colmer, realizing that even if the ban were approved it still wouldn't take care of his iceman constituent, since there was no way of making the provision retroactive, did a little horsetrading with Defense Housing Coordinator Charles Palmer.

Palmer, to expedite the urgent bill, finally agreed to "request" the navy to cancel the Pascagoula refrigerators. With this assurance, Colmer un-gagged the bill in the rules committee and it was passed by the house next day.

Note—While they won this battle, Gautier and Colmer may yet lose the war. The Pascagoula will be completed in a few weeks, and navy housing officials intend to install refrigerators—regardless of Palmer—unless ordered otherwise in writing by Secretary Frank Knox. It now remains to be seen whether Colmer can pressure Knox into axing the refrigerators Gautier doesn't want.

State Department Linen.

THE state department attempt to purge Ogden Hammond, jr., on the alleged charge that he mimicked the president, has revealed a series of hitherto undisclosed purges inside the career service.

Young Ogden Hammond is a unique individual. His father was appointed by Coolidge as ambassador to Spain, and later was one of the most ardent American supporters of General Franco. Young Hammond's sister is Countess Roberti whose husband, an Italian diplomat, was found en route from New Orleans to Mexico City last year with $2,000,000 in a suitcase, presumably for Fascist propaganda.

Yet young Hammond, according to his close friends in the diplomatic service, has disagreed with his father and family on almost everything, and unlike them, is a staunch Roosevelt supporter. He says that mimicking the president is the last thing he would do and has produced affidavits to prove that the charges are false.

Young Hammond's record in the service has been brilliant, though sometimes olashing with the humdrum complacency of his colleagues. And that appears to be the chief reason for his attempted purge. He did not conform. For after he had pretty well disproved the charge that he had mimicked the president, the state department still insisted that he resign.

But unlike others who have taken the purge lying down, Hammond has filed suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, and it looks as if a lot of state department dirty linen would be washed in public.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If there's anything in the world that sounds better to a hungry soldier than "Soupee-ee, Soupee, Soupee," it's the bugle call that means "Mail From Home!"

Twice a day, in camps from San Diego to Newfoundland, it rings out, and the boys cluster around their company mail orderlies — trying to appear nonchalant and "who - gives - a - whoop" but all straining their ear drums to catch the call of their names that means a letter from home, from the best girl, the wife, or the pal that's left behind.

Back of all this is the modern story of "the mail must go through." It may seem a little more prosaic than in those days when the Pony Express rode its way through a band of yowling Indians or the early mail-plane pilots who took off in a blinding sleet storm—but if it does, it's only because the struggle of the individual must always seem more dramatic than the battle of an organization.

Few Cities Equal It.

TO ILLUSTRATE the point, let's just take the problem — the modern, up-to-tomorrow problem of the APO (Army Postoffice). Already there are postoffices in 56 army camps, serving 1,003,500 men (by mid-summer, the number will be at least 1,486,000. Only five cities in the United States serve as many persons with mail—but wait.

Postoffice officials, after years of surveying, figure that only two persons out of five in the United States use the mails. That's because of infants, illiterates, invalids, etc. But there are none of these in army camps. The trainees, regular army and national guard men are 100 per cent mail users. And on that basis, the APO is serving the civilian equivalent of more than 2,500,000 right now and by mid-summer will be serving the equivalent of 3,715,000. In the latter case that means service to more people than in any city in the United States except New York.

Must Move About.

BUT there's something more. Modern armies survive only if they are mobile. To train this man's army without moving it from pillar to post would be like training babies to lift weights without teaching them to walk. So what? Companies, regiments and divisions are going to be constantly on the move.

For example, there will be vast maneuvers again this summer in the Louisiana sector. They will last weeks, maybe a couple of months. I don't know anything about the army's plans, but I'll bet a cellophane helmet they bring troops into that maneuver from New York, Oregon, California and Florida—not whole camps, but training units from many camps that are far enough advanced to take the field.

Imagine you are a postman in Camp Ord, Calif., fingering a special delivery that looks pretty important, and trying to figure out where Pvt. Johnny Doe — "somewhere in Louisiana"—is tonight.

That's the problem, then — but just because it looks as hard to solve as the Einstein theory, don't start wringing your hands and thinking Junior will never get that $2 pin money check you sent him, or the nice warm socks you knitted all by yourself.

See Problem Solved.

THE postoffice department and the army believe they have solved the problem. Experts in both departments have been working on it and thinking about it ever since World War I, when haggard faces had to bend over bushels of letters and mountains of parcels and rubber-stamp them, for return to sender, whereabouts unknown.

If any man deserves credit for the solution (although he'll probably never let me in his office again for saying so — he's that modest) it is Col. W. A. Kenyon. He was Postman No. 1 overseas during World War I. He is, by designation of both the postoffice and the army, Postman No. 1 of the American army training today. Between his two periods of service are 20 years of study and the evolution of today's system, which expects to take for its motto the flat statement: "The army's mail goes through."

A Farmer's Diary

Hormones to Order

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW a farmer at a village store. He was stocky and strong, in a leather coat, with a new bridle swinging from his large right hand.

"The old mare hasn't had a new one for ten years." I heard him tell the clerk. "Thought I'd surprise her."

"How many acres do you farm?" I asked him.

"A hundred and fifty acres of farm land—then there's a woods and sixteen acres of fruit."

"Apples?"

"Apples and peaches — seven-year-old trees. The peaches bore two crops already and the apples one—but it seems when the apples are nearly ripe they just drop off. And two different years the peaches bloomed out too early and frost got 'em."

"My peach orchard isn't planted yet," I told him, "but I've been studying some, and the research men in state agricultural stations have dug out some interesting things. Part of what I mean concerns hormones."

"What's a hormone?"

"Hormones are chemical substances produced in one part of a plant and carried by its circulation to another part, where they influence growth. Chemists have succeeded in producing hormones artificially, now, and the plants will accept them as though they were their own. By feeding synthetic hormones to apple trees—in a spray when the apples begin to fall—they can save 90 per cent of the fruit."

"Well, I'll be—isn't that interesting?"

"Another hormone effects the rooting of plants—they can make roots grow even on the stems and the flowers — and almost anything can be grown by cuttings, now."

"Peach trees need cold winter weather to make them set on fruit. They have a spray that spurs the plant to bloom and set fruit even in warm climates—and another spray that will delay the season of natural bloom until danger of frost is past."

The farmer's genial weather-beaten face broke into a big smile. "Goin' to try these new-fangled hormones on your own peach orchard?" he asked.

I nodded. "They'll be common commercial products shortly, I guess," said I.

"Well if that's so, fruit growers oughta get along. Chemistry's quite a subject, now isn't it? Well, I'll be seein' ye!"
